

Interest rate hike: We're all suffering from Conservative economic crisis

People desperately need a grown up Government to help them survive

GMB Union has responded to today's interest rate hike by the Bank of England

Gary Smith, GMB General Secretary, said:

“Today the Bank of England has been forced to step in again to try and salvage some stability from this train wreck of an economy the Conservatives have created

“The end result: we all end up suffering thanks to the Tory’s terrible economic experiment.

“People desperately need a grown up Government to help them survive this self-made Conservative crisis.”
