

Leicestershire schools risk school dinners on the cheap.

School leaders must put pupils before profits.

GMB union has today slammed plans by two of Leicestershire's largest school Trusts to outsource the provision of school meals.

Plans from the RISE and Discovery Academy Trusts, which collectively run thirty seven county schools [2], would see school dinners outsourced to a private contractor.

GMB union has raised the alarm after it was revealed companies in the running to deliver pupil meals would refuse to honour the pay, terms and conditions of catering staff at the schools.

David Warwick, GMB Organiser, said:

“You can’t deliver schools meals on the cheap.

“We are calling on school leaders to put pupils before profits.

“Everyone agrees that school catering workers do vital work for our young people, yet these plans from the RISE and Discovery Schools Academy Trust would see them stripped of vital terms and conditions.

“Companies contracted to deliver the schools’ catering should be trusted by the entire school community, including parents and catering staff themselves.

“We are calling on school leaders to ensure that any plans safeguard the standards and protections of school catering staff at these schools.”
