

Response to Govt's carbon capture announcement

GMB, the energy union, has responded to today's announcement on investment in carbon capture technology.

Gary Smith, GMB General Secretary, said:

"This is a serious step in the right direction and a welcome investment in jobs and industries after years of neglect under the previous administration.

"GMB has long called for this technology to be supported: it's great to see these calls being answered.

"Today's announcement shows what levelling up can really mean: good, well paid jobs reinvigorating communities.

"If this positive news is followed by a quick decision to support Sizewell C, it shows that we finally have a Government with a serious industrial strategy that will rebuild our nation's infrastructure after fourteen wasted years."
