

GMB members accept NHS pay award

Tens of thousands of GMB members working in the NHS and Ambulance Service in England have today [Monday] accepted the Government's pay award for 2024/25.

Following a consultative ballot, a majority of more than 60 per cent voted to accept.

Rachel Harrison, GMB National Secretary:

"Today, GMB members working across the NHS and ambulance service in England have welcomed this first step towards restoring their pay to pre-austerity levels.

“The Pay Review Body recommendation was the first above inflation pay rise for NHS workers in more than a decade.

“GMB now urges the Government to implement by the pay award in full – including agreeing the funded mandate to refresh the Agenda for Change pay and terms structure that many NHS workers are contracted under.”
