MOTION 257

PRE-CONGRESS DELEGATE MEETINGS

Congress agrees that in order to widen the area of debate, and to achieve a more democratic expression of Congress delegates, Pre-Congress meetings should determine their voting intentions, with regard to resolutions from within their own Region, and matters reflecting a point of principle. But should not determine an intractable attitude to resolutions from other Regions until the conclusion of the general debate.

GUIDELINES FOR CONGRESS BUSINESS

These guidelines provide a broad, but flexible, framework for dealing with Congress business and have been drawn up in accordance with the Rules of the Union. They are intended as guidelines for the President, Congress and the Standing Orders Committee itself.

1. CONGRESS

Congress is convened and delegates are elected subject to the provisions of the Union Rule Book. Congress shall conduct its business at the following times:

Congress – Sunday 2 June - Wednesday 5 June
9.30 am - 12.30 pm, 2.00 pm - 5.30 pm

Congress – Thursday 6 June
9.30 am - 12.30 pm

Changes in these times will be discussed between the President of Congress and the Standing Orders Committee.

2. STANDING ORDERS COMMITTEE

The Standing Orders Committee shall be appointed in accordance with Rule 9. The members of the Standing Orders Committee shall elect a chair from amongst their own number.

The Standing Orders Committee shall have power to recommend to Congress proposals on the conduct of Congress business as covered by these guidelines.

The Standing Orders Committee shall meet as and when may be necessary to arrange Congress business.

The Central Executive Council may appoint up to three Observers to advise Standing Orders Committee.

3. GENERAL MOTIONS AND RULE AMENDMENTS

Motions on general policy and to amend rules shall be placed on the agenda according to the provisions of the Rule Book.

It is the responsibility of the Standing Orders Committee at Congress to make recommendations to Congress for the handling of the agenda.

The Standing Orders Committee has three responsibilities in respect of Motions submitted to Congress:

- (1) The Committee shall determine whether or not each Motion is "in order" for debate at Congress i.e.
 - whether the Motion ought to be dealt with by a more appropriate body (for example a JIC or a Section or Delegate Conference);
 - whether, at a Congress which is not a Rules Revision Congress, the Motion conflicts with a rule, or is an explicit rule amendment or would require a consequential rule amendment to give effect to its provisions;

- whether the Motion covers more than one subject;
- whether, after consultation with the delegation, the provisions of the Motion are still relevant and appropriate to the present situation (i.e. whether the Motion has been "overtaken by events");
- whether the wording of the Motion is incomprehensible;
- whether at a Rules Revision Congress, a rule amendment Motion would leave a rule deficient;
- whether the Motion conflicts with a previous Congress resolution that it does not expressly seek to overturn.

If a Motion comes within any of these categories, it shall be ruled "out of order" by the Standing Orders Committee, and the Committee shall recommend to Congress accordingly.

(2) The Committee shall make proposals to Regional delegations on the withdrawal of a Motion in favour of another Motion on the Congress agenda. In determining whether to recommend the withdrawal of a Motion, the Committee shall ensure that the principles and proposals incorporated in that Motion are fully covered by the Motion that will remain on the agenda.

A Regional delegation is entitled to reject the Committee's proposal to withdraw, and to allow its Motion to stand on the agenda.

If a Regional delegation agrees to the withdrawal of its Motion the Standing Orders Committee will, if it wishes, recommend the right to second the other Motion or the right to speak in support of it. The Standing Orders Committee will report the recommendation accordingly to Congress.

(3) The Standing Orders Committee shall assist Regional delegations in the drafting of composite resolutions and shall make proposals and recommendations accordingly.

In determining proposals on composite resolutions, the Committee shall bear in mind the following points:

- that the principles and proposals of the Motions concerned are covered in the composite resolution
- that the wording of the composite resolution reflects the meaning of the original Motions.

The first Report of the Committee shall, as far as possible, report on agreed composite Motions, and/or indicate those Motions which are being considered for compositing and fix the time and place at which Regional delegations are required to meet the SOC either to discuss the compositing of Motions, or any other matters relating to Motions standing in the name of a Regional delegation.

In the event of a delegation failing to respond to an invitation to meet the SOC this shall be reported to Congress with the recommendation that the Motion shall fall.

If in the opinion of the SOC a Regional delegation has unreasonably declined to composite a Motion, this shall be reported to Congress with any recommendations that the Chair of SOC deems appropriate.

If it is proposed to composite Motions on which the CEC has adopted different attitudes, the CEC Observers shall consult with the General Secretary. The Standing Orders Committee and the Delegations involved in the proposed compositing shall be informed of the CEC attitude prior to the proposed composite being finalised.

If the Regional delegation agrees to a composite resolution, agreement will then be sought between the delegations concerned on which shall move and second the resolution and, where appropriate, which Regional delegation shall have the right to speak in support of it. The Standing Orders Committee will report the recommendation accordingly to Congress.

Priority in debate will be given to those delegates who assist in achieving a composite.

4. EMERGENCY MOTIONS

Any Delegate wishing to submit an Emergency Motion shall in the first instance seek the agreement of his/her Regional delegation that the Motion is an Emergency Motion. It shall then be referred to the Standing Orders Committee, which shall decide whether the Motion is an Emergency Motion after taking account of the following points:

- whether the Motion involves a serious situation needing quick action
- whether the Motion relates to events that have occurred after the closing date for motions as prescribed in the Rule Book
- whether the Motion relates to a decision already taken by the Congress which is in session and would consequently amend or rescind the decision.

Emergency Motions can be composited.

5. WITHDRAWAL OF MOTIONS

If a Regional delegation wishes to withdraw a Motion in the name of a branch of the Region, or in the name of the Regional Committee, the Regional Secretary shall notify the Standing Orders Committee.

6. MATTERS OF URGENCY

Any delegate wishing to bring before Congress "a matter of urgency" not on the agenda shall in the first instance seek the agreement of his/her Regional delegation that the matter is one of urgency. It shall then be referred to the Standing Orders Committee, which shall recommend whether or not the matter is one of urgency, after taking account of the following points:

- whether the matter needs immediate decision and is a matter which is not (whether by Motion or otherwise) already on the agenda
- whether the matter could have been dealt with adequately in an ordinary Motion placed on the Congress agenda, or by an Emergency Motion.

The Standing Orders Committee shall inform the President of Congress and Congress of its recommendation. The President shall then put the Motion that the matter be taken as a matter of urgency, and it is then the responsibility of Congress to decide whether the matter be so brought forward.

7. CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Central Executive Council has the right within rule to submit Motions to Congress. The Central Executive Council will notify Regional delegations of these Motions prior to their pre-Congress meetings.

The Central Executive Council shall have the right to submit Motions as "a matter of emergency" to Congress. The Central Executive Council should notify the Standing Orders Committee of their intention to do so.

Subject to the provisions of Rule 8, the Central Executive Council members should only speak at Congress where they are representing Central Executive Council policy. Where a Central Executive Council member is asked by his/her Regional delegation to speak to the Regional delegation's policy, he/she shall only do so provided the delegation's policy is not in contravention with Central Executive Council policy.

8. DEBATING PROCEDURE

The Procedure for debating Congress Motions shall normally be at the discretion of the President who will indicate to Congress wherever appropriate, the procedure or procedures he/she intends to adopt.

In determining the procedure for debating Motions, the President shall have regard to the following points:

- no resolution of the Congress in session can be amended, rescinded or negated by a subsequent Motion, at that Congress;
- precedence in debates shall be given to a Motion of the Central Executive Council;
- rule amendments take precedence in debate over general Motions;
- personal attacks on colleagues should not take place.

The Standing Orders Committee shall advise the President what Motions will fall if another motion or a Special Report is carried.

9. TIME LIMITS FOR SPEAKERS

The times for speakers will be recommended by the Standing Orders Committee, taking account of the amount of business on the agenda.

It may be necessary, in order that the business of Congress is properly completed, that time for speakers be curtailed. The Standing Orders Committee shall recommend revised times for speakers to Congress. If, in the interests of saving Congress time, a Motion that the Central Executive Council is accepting without qualification is formally moved and seconded, there shall be no CEC speaker on the Motion.

10. VOTING

It shall be within the discretion of the President to determine the manner of voting, whether it be by a show of hands, a tellers vote or a card vote.

Only Delegates seated in the Congress Hall should vote. If, in exceptional circumstances, the President instructs that the doors to the Hall be closed, he/she should give prior warning to Delegates.

Show of Hands: The President shall call for those in favour to show, and shall then call for those against.

Teller Vote: The tellers elected for each Region shall, when the President of Congress instructs, count the hands raised In Favour. They will report this total to the General Member Auditors. The tellers then shall likewise count the hands raised Against, and similarly report the total to the General Member Auditors. The General Member Auditors shall report the result to the President.

Card Vote: A book of voting cards will be issued to each delegate. Each book will contain numbered cards marked "For", and cards marked "Against". The number on each card is to identify the number of the vote, and cannot be used to identify the individual voting. The appropriate voting card will be selected and used by the delegate to vote either "For" or "Against". The card must not be marked in any way, but placed in the ballot box provided by the teller.

When the President has decided that a card vote is necessary:

- (a) tellers will provide a ballot box for each regional delegation;
- (b) the President will announce the number of the card to be used – for example: 'Card Vote number 1';
- (c) delegates will choose the appropriate numbered card, marked either "For" or "Against" from their book of voting cards and place it into the ballot box provided;
- (d) once the President has announced 'Card Vote completed' tellers will take the ballot boxes to the General Member Auditors;
- (e) the General Member Auditors will count the votes, and notify the President of the result

President: The President of Congress shall have no vote. If there is a tied vote, then the motion shall fall.

11. VOTING FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT

The President and Vice-President of the Union shall be elected by Congress, in accordance with the provisions of Rule 12 and 13. Ballot papers bearing the names of the candidates will be issued at Congress.

12. LITERATURE

No literature or leaflets - other than official GMB literature - may be distributed inside the Congress Building without the prior permission of the Standing Orders Committee.

Literature, wherever distributed, which is intended to influence the voting intentions of delegates to Congress, should be brought to the attention of the Standing Orders Committee.

13. PREVIOUS CONGRESS DECISIONS

The following Motions, carried at previous Congresses, relate to the conduct of Congress.

1974 CONGRESS, BLACKPOOL, MOTION 257

PRE-CONGRESS DELEGATE MEETINGS

Congress agrees that in order to widen the area of debate, and to achieve a more democratic expression of Congress delegates, Pre-Congress meetings should determine their voting intentions, with regard to resolutions from within their own Region, and matters reflecting a point of principle. But should not determine an intractable attitude to resolutions from other Regions until the conclusion of the general debate.

1985 CONGRESS, BLACKPOOL, SPECIAL MOTION

CORE RULE 34

Congress re-affirms the powers of the Central Executive Council as provided for within Rule to revise Officials' salaries and matters related to conditions of service.

CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

1993 CONGRESS, PORTSMOUTH, MOTION 144

CONGRESS DOCUMENTS

Congress agrees that at future Congresses, all documents provided by the Central Executive Council and any Motions with several components, shall be voted on by paragraph or section, where that year's Congress decides by a majority vote to do so. Congress can thus reject parts of documents and Motions without rejecting all that is presented.

MELTON GENERAL BRANCH
(Midland & East Coast Region)

1999 CONGRESS, BLACKPOOL, MOTION 9

CONGRESS DEMOCRACY

Congress has previously resolved that Pre-Congress meetings should not determine an intractable attitude to resolutions from other regions until the conclusion of the general debate (1974 Congress).

Congress now demands the end of the practice of regions mandating delegates on any motions other than those of their own region, unless a major matter of principle is involved.

NORTH WEST LONDON BRANCH
(London Region)

2003 CONGRESS, BLACKPOOL, MOTION 11

UNION DEMOCRACY

Congress calls for delegates to have democratic freedom.

It would be of assistance to have voting procedures explained at start of Congress. At last Congress many delegates supported motions but voted against because they were instructed to oppose. New delegates were not aware they could have free votes.

CONGRESS

1. NATIONAL EQUALITY CONFERENCE: ABILITY TO SUBMIT MOTIONS TO CONGRESS

Congress recognises the important work undertaken by the National Equalities Forum (NEF) and the development of the National Equalities Conference (NEC) in developing the equality through inclusion agenda.

Congress recognises that the NEC can only be advisory and not policy making. This Congress therefore believes that the NEC should have the ability to agree at least one motion for National Congress, similar to the system operated by the TUC Equality Conferences.

This Congress therefore agrees to amend Rule 9, clause 4 to add after the first sentence:

“In addition the National Equalities Conference can select one motion for submission to ordinary Congress. That motion will stand in the name of the National Equalities Conference and be moved by the region that originally submitted the motion to the NEC”.

2. INVITES TO CONGRESS AND QUESTIONS

This motion calls for more clarity and democracy, when it comes to inviting guests and asking questions at Congress. In past years a number of controversial figures have been invited to Congress. There are many positive and negative views to inviting these people which this motion isn't concerned with these. However, this motion does feel that the decisions on who to invite should be member led. Also, in my previous years of attending there has been no clarity around the questions that are asked to guest speakers. There needs to be a more open, transparent and democratic process. This motion is calling for an open procedure put in place so that everyone has the chance to put questions forward and is aware how to.

3. GUESTS AT CONGRESS

This Conference recognises that many members were angry with the decision to invite members of the Coalition to our last two Congresses and hear them lecture us on the need to make cuts and also on our right to take industrial action.

This is not a matter of 'free speech' - Congress believes that these persons have unparalleled access to mainstream media to spread their narrative, and so do not need another forum in which to do so and which to attack trade union members.

Congress believes that this is our space – an important coming together of members to discuss the democratic business of our union, and persons who wish to attack our institutions, our members, and our values, have no right to be a part of this and are not welcome here.

However, we recognise that for whatever reason, invitations to these politicians may be accepted. Therefore, we instruct the CEC to allow congress delegates the right to protest their appearance without being silenced, and we also instruct the CEC to ensure that a fair system of asking questions is allowed, rather than the pre-prepared questions from chosen delegates as we have seen. We propose that each delegate who wishes to ask a question is assigned a number, and the number drawn from a 'hat'. This ensures a fair process rather than a stage managed set piece, and will allow other views to be democratically expressed.

B50 SUSSEX BRANCH
Southern Region

4. DECLINE IN NUMBER OF DELEGATE NOMINATIONS TO CONGRESS

Congress is concerned about the decline in the number of branches making nominations to Congress. Whilst Rule 8.7 has helped improve the participation of under-represented groups by allowing an additional 10% to be added to the regional delegation, it is clear that not all branches are making nominations.

Further, in some regions, delegate elections do not need to take place as places are uncontested and even unfilled in some cases. This does not bode well for our union's democracy and we need to ensure we do everything we can to ensure that the union's policy is agreed by a diverse, cross-section of its members.

Congress therefore instructs the union to research why branches are not putting forward nominations and whether branches have suggestions as to how participation can be improved. A full report on the findings and recommendations on how to improve participation in future years should be presented to Congress 2014.

6. PROMOTING EQUAL REPRESENTATION OF WOMEN WITHIN GMB

This Congress recognises the under-representation of women's participation in the GMB Lay and full time structures. Congress notes that membership of the union is roughly 50/50 between men and women. Congress believes that the elected Lay structure as well as the Full Time Regional and National Officers and staff should reflect the membership of the union in gender balance.

This Congress welcomes the commissioning of a report by the CEC into the involvement of women in the GMB and instructs the CEC to ensure that any report is circulated to regions and branches.

Congress requests CEC looks at under representation of women at the level of Branch, Regional, National as well as Congress delegations and make recommendations on how we can rectify issues of under representation. The CEC should consult the National Equality Forum and Regional Equality Forums on the outcomes of the report and bring final recommendation to Congress with any rule amendments that may be required.

8. LEGACY OF SEXISM WITHIN THE UNIONS

This Congress notes that Unions have always been associated with working class Northern Men. More female officers are required to help and to alter this perception. The image needs to be updated and the unions as a whole need to be more representative of those that they represent.

We therefore ask Congress that GMB appoint more female full-time officers.

13. BRANCH WEBSITES

Congress agrees to develop a means to make it easier for all branches to have an easily maintainable online presence with their own websites.

In this modern age, the GMB is at risk of falling behind other Trade Unions if it does not keep pace with Information Communication Technology. People now have smart phones and TVs so even those with no knowledge of computers can access the internet at home or on the move. With employers across all sectors embracing social media and websites, the GMB needs to do more to communicate on a regular basis with members through a variety of channels so that members can choose how we keep them up to date and when.

For a comparatively minimal set up cost, branches will be able to keep members up to date with campaigns, news and information on what Organisers are doing to protect their members.

I appreciate that not everyone has a good knowledge of IT which is why the GMB needs to support branches by developing a template site for all branches which is as easy to update as typing a letter or sending an email. With a little training this will enable the most IT phobic Branch Officers to be able to update the website easily on a weekly or daily basis.

Safeguards could easily be built in where approval from Regional Organisers or a Policy Advisor at a regional level could ensure content adheres to GMB policy.

The GMB needs to move forward and embrace modern technology to raise our profile and improve recruitment and retention of members.

20. SUPPORT DOMESTIC SERVICE WORKERS

This Congress calls on the GMB to mount a campaign to both expose the abuse of domestic workers and to recruit them to our union to give them a strong united voice.

One hundred years ago, the largest employment sector was Domestic Service, pampering and serving the needs of the great and the good (i.e. the rich and powerful).

In the 21st Century, although the terminology and job titles may have changed, Domestic Service still exists. Just as in the past, exploitation of these workers is rife, with pay often below the minimum wage, workers with little or no recognised rights and suffering abuse. Low paid; usually women and mainly foreign workers are used as skivvies.

By its very nature, this dark secret of the upper echelons of society is well hidden. It's difficult to identify and to unionise such workers. However, the GMB has a history of organising those considered impossible to organise. The GMB should rise to this challenge.

22. GENERAL SECRETARY AND TREASURER

This Congress recognises the recent announcement from Paul Kenny, General Secretary of the GMB that he wishes to resign from office.

It is important to fully recognise and appreciate the hard work that Paul Kenny has given to the GMB over many years and turned this Union into a growing union and also bringing it back from the brink of financial ruin and collapse.

Paul has been a master tactician and strategist and his experience will be sadly missed. It will be almost impossible to fill his shoes as a Senior Trade Unionist the best we have seen not only in the GMB but also in the whole Trade Union Movement.

There are important political times ahead for the Trade Unions such as the next General Election and Paul has been a leading political figure not only in the GMB but also other Trade Unions.

Paul has a wealth of experience that will be missed within any Trade Union and we would therefore ask Congress to plea with Paul Kenny to stay on and lead us past the next General Election and give time to bed in a new General Secretary and Treasurer.

His personal attributes of commitment and leadership established over the duration of his term as General Secretary has ensured that the membership, officers and staff have someone they can trust and believe in, to continue to lead and take the Union forward through these difficult times of national economic and industrial challenges, until at least the natural end of his term of office.

26. RETIREMENT OF GENERAL SECRETARY

This Congress fully recognises the enormous contribution made by the General Secretary Paul Kenny in restoring stability to the GMB since the Congress in Newcastle 2005.

Following the resignation of the Union's previously dishonoured General Secretary Kevin Curran prior to the Congress in Newcastle, as recorded in the book of the Union's History 1889-2012 this "should have been the Union's darkest hour, with its previous General Secretary dishonoured and stripped of his position." However, since then, this Congress is pleased to record under Paul Kenny's inspirational, unique and commanding leadership, the GMB is now clearly recognised as the campaigning union, fighting for better pay, improved working conditions, equality, respect and social justice.

This Congress also records that Paul Kenny at every Congress since he was elected, on behalf of the Central Executive Council has announced continued financial and membership growth, as well as further modernisation of the Union's democratic structures, all of which has been built on a professional approach to managing GMB business and delivering its policies.

As a result the GMB is in good shape, and whilst the General Secretary's announcement of his pending retirement is fully respected this Congress urges the General Secretary to seriously reconsider his decision to retire.

This Congress fully understands and appreciates the sacrifice being asked of the General Secretary; at the same time recognising that these years of rebuilding the organisation has now made the union fit for purpose, and ready to meet those many challenges that lie ahead.

This Congress would be proud and honoured if Paul Kenny would agree to continue to lead the GMB as General Secretary in accordance with the Union's Rules, in order to meet those challenges and continue the fight for justice and a decent and fair society.

29. GMB LEADERSHIP

Congress the GMB calls on Congress to urge our General Secretary, Paul Kenny to reconsider his announcement to retire.

The ebullient leadership of Paul Kenny as our General Secretary has turned the GMB from an ailing Union that was facing amalgamation on the brink of financial collapse, to a Union that has stability, vision, membership growth to give back this great union of ours its independence as an organisation that meets the needs and wishes of its members.

Working people and our members are facing difficult times as a result of the Tory Government's vicious and punitive austerity measures because of the Tories failed economic policies. Congress, this great union of ours needs more than ever the vision, drive and determination that our General Secretary, Paul Kenny has given GMB and our members throughout his time as General Secretary.

Congress, the leadership of Paul Kenny is central to the battles that we the GMB face as a result of the Tories continual fragmentation of social and working class rights and it is only with his drive and passion that we can be in a position to lead our members and the Labour Movement through these challenging times.

Congress, we are asking you to support this motion and to urge Paul Kenny to reconsider his retirement and remain as General Secretary of this great union of ours, the GMB.

30. GOVERNANCE OF THE UNION

This Congress believes that the current situation whereby people who have no role in the workplace can be elected to the GMB Central Executive Council is unsustainable. At this time of austerity measures, pay cuts, pay freezes and job losses it is vital that those formulating union policy have the knowledge and experience of what is actually happening.

The world of work today is very different to that of only a decade ago and it is vital that the GMB is seen as a legitimate and relevant trade union for workers. The GMB Central Executive Council should be made up of people who are active workplace representatives and not those who are unemployed or retired.

As such, we call for a change in the Rule Book to facilitate this and to ensure a more progressive and relevant governance of the Union.

Allowing such members to continually bring the union into disrepute through their actions can only serve to inhibit our growing union membership and harm our credibility.

33. DISCRIMINATION AGAINST AGE – RULE 8.6

This Congress is appalled that Ageism is still apparent within the GMB rule book, namely within Rule 8.6. GMB has always striven to promote Equality, combining and encompassing all the strands and been all inclusive. But not that all inclusive. Those members who have paid their £25 on retiring, still active within their Branches and Regions, are not eligible for the 10% of their Region's delegation to Congress.

Congress instructs the CEC to amend Rule 8.6 to include retired members in the 10% of the delegations, so that rule 8.6 reads as follows:

“The region’s remaining 10% of delegates will be appointed by the regional committee to ensure that the regional delegation properly reflects the balance of the regional membership in respect of industry, geographic spread, ethnicity, gender, disability, retired, youth and sexual orientation. 35. RETIRED LIFE MEMBERS, ELIGIBILITY FOR OFFICE WITHIN THE GMB

Congress notes when a member retires from paid employment they no longer get the benefit or call on the services the GMB provides in the workplace and therefore are a limited drain on our resources.

Congress fully appreciates the role that retired lay members can and do play in the running of the GMB. We can ill afford to lose their wealth of experience, expertise, commitment, enthusiasm and knowledge, which can be fully utilise to ensure the smooth running of our Union. Congress agrees these lay members who give up their time and effort to hold office, will not be financially penalised for giving a valuable service to our Union, as compared with a fully financial member. We have a hard enough job persuading members to hold office, without placing a financial burden on them for doing so. Congress therefore instructs the CEC to bring forward to the 2014 Congress, proposals to alter the rules governing the eligibility of Retired Life Members (as defined under rule 48a), to allow these members to hold office within the GMB.

36. GMB BRANCH HEALTH OFFICERS

This Congress recognises the importance and need for the introduction and development of a GMB Branch Health Officer into our branch structure.

In these times of austerity more often than not, our members do not look after their health quite as well as they should. Longer and irregular working patterns increase the risk of unhealthy eating, reduction in exercising, and the development of mental health and physical health conditions.

The Branch Health Officer would be trained in basic healthy living and well-being skills. The Health Officer would be responsible for organising healthy living and better well-being campaigns in the workplace. These could include regular blood-pressure measurements, healthy eating advice and life style advice.

The introduction of Health Officers into our branch structures could improve, extend and even save the lives of GMB members.

50. GMB FAMILY MEMBERSHIP RATE

This Congress calls for a "family" rate of membership.

During this current economic climate people are increasingly being forced to cut costs. For some this may mean not being able to join the Union, whilst others may have to cancel their membership as they feel they can no longer afford their subscriptions.

A family rate would encourage membership by offering affordability and also encourage young family members to join. This in turn would increase our youth membership, who are the future of our union.

NORFOLK PUBLIC SERVICES BRANCH

51. COMMUNITY MEMBERSHIP

This Congress notes that the GMB is an open and democratic organisation and welcomes into membership people from any industry or walk of life who are committed to upholding the aims and rules of the union.

We feel that given the contribution rates we are excluding a section of society who are not able to find work but wish to become active within the GMB to help lead the way with campaigns around issues which affect their communities.

We would like to see a new rate introduced which is affordable. An example could be 40p per week so that it is highly competitive with sister unions. This will be titled the community membership rate.

It will give our members access to training courses and support from their branches and region in any campaign matter the union supports. By introducing this rate, members of the community membership when becoming employed will take the union with them. They will have the skills already to become shop steward if they wish to do so which will not only help to grow the union but help build the GMB's profile at the same time.

Congress therefore calls on the GMB to introduce a community membership rate by no later than Congress 2014.

Our branch prides itself on the work it carries out in our area winning the Regional Branch Community Campaign of the Year Award two years running.

We note the innovative work being carried out by other trade unions in relation to community membership. The branch recognises the prohibitive rate of contributions for those out of work.

53. MEMBERSHIP RATES FOR THOSE IN FULL-TIME EDUCATION

This Congress calls on the CEC to investigate the introduction of an annual payment system for all those studying in Full-Time Education.

The current subscription system does not take into account that most university students receive their grants/loans as annual lump sums. Nor does it recognise the fact that very few of our potential younger members (i.e. those attending school) have any form of regular income.

Congress believes that if a method of annual payment were introduced with specially tailored rates, then those students on annual grants would be more inclined to become members, and that this system would give parents and other family members, guardians and friends the opportunity of giving membership as a gift to young people.

Congress believes that the Union could increase membership within these age groups by highlighting both the advantages of membership and the legal protection it offers.

NORWICH GENERAL BRANCH

54. YOUTH

Congress agrees to put in place new subscription rates and a recruitment campaign for young people. This would include:

- The unemployed rate for those on unpaid "work experience"

- A special rate for those on zero hours contracts or “self-employed” contracts with irregular work; taking into account that a regular weekly/monthly rate will not be appropriate and flexible payments more acceptable – perhaps a percentage of earnings in any 6 month period.
- Negotiation with GMB organized companies (e.g. ASDA) so that young people forced into “work experience” are enabled to attend training sessions about the union. Also that existing members should suffer no detriment as a result of the “employment” of these free workers (e.g. loss of overtime and jobs).
- Regions should undertake research to find out which employers are using unpaid claimants and then target these employers and recruit the workers.

This is because young people are being increasingly exploited and are increasingly unlikely to join unions, partly because of the cost.

55. GMB YOUNG MEMBERS AND APPRENTICES MEMBERS RATES

This Congress recognises that the engaging of young people into our membership is paramount to the Union’s on-going goals of growing its membership. We ask the CEC, therefore, to give consideration to introducing a new rate specifically for young apprentice’s posts that will enable GMB activists to target and recruit those young persons entering the employment market early in their careers.

RHONDDA CYNON TAFF BRANCH

56. APPRENTICE RECRUITMENT RATES

This Congress notes the wage of apprentices is very poor £2.65 per hour. Many apprenticeships are excellent value run to a high quality.

However, all too often young people find themselves on sub-standard schemes where employers don’t invest in apprenticeships and simply employ the young as a cheap source of labour.

These young apprentices need the help of unions so we ask that unions have a reduced rate for them so they are safe with the union backing.

ALFRETON NO. 1 BRANCH

57. APPRENTICE CONTRIBUTION RATE

This Congress calls for the introduction of an apprentice contribution rate which would take into account that many apprentices spend the first two years on low wages, in particular when they are between ages 16 and 18.

The current minimum wage for those under 18 is £3.68, but those employed as apprentices, £2.65.

We feel that an incremental increase in contributions would help to encourage more young people to join our union whilst they are on the bottom rung of the earnings ladder, as part of an apprentice contribution rate.

58. SCHOOL SUPPORT STAFF CONTRIBUTION LEVEL

This Congress calls for a “school support staff” membership rate for those paid “term time” only.

NORFOLK PUBLIC SERVICES BRANCH

59. TAX FREE TRADE UNION CONTRIBUTIONS

This Congress calls for the Union to campaign for union membership fees to be tax deductible.

This is an equality issue as professionals can have their subscription fees deducted against their tax. Union membership fees are exclusively for the purpose of work and ensure that the workplace is a safer place to work and better paid than non-unionised workplaces.

We submit that to restrict such tax allowances to the professional classes is discriminatory against working class employees and workers. We ask the Union to vigorously campaign and use its influence in the Labour Party to make this happen after the next General Election when we, hopefully, get a Labour Government.

60. FUNDING OF THE EQUALITY AGENDA

Congress, GMB is setting in place a number of equality initiatives and is to be congratulated for this.

The General Secretary congratulated London Region on its creativity in the equality field, and expressed his support.

Those members who are included in these initiatives (women, black and ethnic minority people, young people, LGBT groups, people with disability, migrant workers and older members) are likely to be lower paid and have greater transport problems.

Therefore the union agrees that regions will fund members' expenses for attending these meetings and also fund the cost of running the meetings (venue, crèche, refreshments etc). If GMB is serious about empowering and enfranchising such groups, then they must be properly and fully funded by the Union regionally and not by branches, which have less and less disposable money. This is the case with the other major Unions.

62. DEFENDING THE UNION LEARNING FUND

This Conference asks the GMB to Campaign for the reinstatement of the Union Learning Fund (ULF) as well as getting the Labour Party to raise this in Parliament.

There have been many credible studies and reports carried out on behalf of the government and the TUC outlining the benefit the ULF has had on the British labour force and in turn the increased productivity, profitability and decreased health related absence the UK businesses have experienced as a direct result of the ULF.

The ULF has also played a substantial role in attempting to minimise the skills gaps in the UK as well as raising the level of education. Cutting the funding for the ULF is reducing the ability for the UK to once again compete in the global market, a position we once held with pride.

It is too often when businesses in the UK outsource valuable work to other countries leaving UK citizens hard pressed to find work. Our desire is to see a highly skilled workforce in the UK which will attract businesses to the UK and the ULF will help us get there and stay there.

Please can the GMB lobby the Labour Party to raise the issue in parliament to reconsider stopping funding to the ULF.

63. WORKING CLASS EDUCATION

This Congress calls on the CEC to support efforts to revive and strengthen independent working class education within the GMB. At a time when little formal education is taught to challenge the social and economic orthodoxy it is important that we learn the lessons of history and of trade unions' political and economic growth. We call on the CEC to produce a report for Congress 2014 setting out existing provision and opportunities to work within the GMB and with outside partners to better represent workers history and alternative economic theories to a new generation of GMB activists and members.

64. GMB WORK CLUBS

This Congress calls upon the GMB to actively work with partners and our members who are in need due to the recession, to develop support services and GMB "work clubs" to assist them back into employment.

We are concerned that many contractors are engaged in tick box exercises without addressing the real needs of the member. It has been revealed that some of the private agencies running the work programme are 'parking' disabled job seekers and offering a very poor service despite substantial funding to help people back in work funded for by the tax payers. The Union can be at the forefront of demonstrating our commitment to members and the wider community in and out of work through the wider partnerships and services identified in establishing GMB "work clubs".

We ask Branches and Regions to work with Union Learning Projects and other partners to ensure that a range of good quality services and support mechanisms are established in their areas, where possible supported and run by the Union members themselves.

68. OUTLAWING BULLYING

Congress agrees to campaign to outlaw bullying from the workplace in all forms, permanently.

Current legislation does little to protect workers from bullying and intimidation in the workplace. While there are some limited safeguards for those with protected characteristics which include, race, religion or belief, gender, gender reassignment, sexuality, disability and age, a bully can harass individuals or a group of people without being brought to account, so long as they treat them all the same. This means an employer can intimidate all of their staff and get away with it.

The current legislation also does very little to protect those with the identified characteristics because unless you can prove the bullying is linked to one of them, there is no recourse in law.

Congress further agrees to commit to campaigning to change the law so that bullying in work will not be tolerated whether or not it is linked to the age, sex, race, ability, sexuality, gender reassignment, religion, belief, look, feel or any other characteristic of an individual.

70. HOMOPHOBIC BULLYING 'A DAILY NIGHTMARE' FOR OVER HALF OF BRITAIN'S SCHOOL PUPILS

This Congress notes that pioneering research reveals serious concerns about homophobic language and that nearly a quarter of gay young people attempt suicide.

New research carried out by the University of Cambridge for Stonewall's School Report 2012 has found that 55% of lesbian, gay and bisexual pupils in Britain's secondary schools experience homophobic bullying. The research, based on a national survey of 1,614 young people, also found that nearly a quarter (23%) of gay young people have attempted to take their own life and more than half (56%) deliberately harm themselves.

The School Report 2012 reveals that 99% of gay young people hear homophobic language – like 'that's so gay' and 'you're so gay'. However, a quarter of gay young people, rising to over a third in faith schools, report that teachers never challenge homophobic language. In schools where teaching staff never challenge homophobic remarks, the rate of homophobic bullying is far higher than in schools where such language is always challenged (71% compared to 43%).

Stonewall Chief Executive Ben Summerskill said: 'It's unacceptable that over half of gay young people face a daily nightmare of homophobic bullying and deeply worrying that many schools and teachers still fail to challenge it effectively. Thankfully Stonewall's years of work with thousands of schools and local authorities has reduced the overall level of homophobic bullying significantly. But we won't rest until every single gay young person in this country can walk through their school gates every morning without fear of being bullied just because of the way they were born.'

Schools Minister, Nick Gibb, said: 'Homophobic bullying, of any kind and of any child, is completely unacceptable. No child should have to suffer fear, victimisation or disruption as a result of bullying, either on or off school premises. Tackling poor behaviour and bullying are top priorities for the coalition government. Working with Stonewall and other groups, we are supporting schools to take a zero tolerance approach to all forms of bullying. We are also clear that homophobic language should become as unacceptable as racial slurs.'

Shadow Education Secretary, Stephen Twigg, speaking at Stonewall's Education for All Conference in London today, paid tribute to Stonewall for making a 'vital contribution' to discussions about homophobic bullying. 'Every school and college must be a safe environment for everyone learning and working there,' he said. 'Stonewall's School Report sets out challenges for schools, the Department for Education and Ofsted. It also makes recommendations for local authorities and academy chains – it's vital that these are adopted.'

Today's report updates Stonewall's School Report 2007, which found that nearly two thirds of young people were being homophobically bullied. Homophobic language remains as prevalent today as it was in 2007, although twice as many young people today report their schools say homophobic bullying is wrong (50%, up from 25% in 2007).

We therefore ask Congress to support this motion to have LGBT awareness added to the School Curriculum.

71. DOMESTIC VIOLENCE (DV)

Congress, since it is estimated that one in four women report being victims of domestic violence to police, it is reasonable to assume that the incidence of domestic violence is much higher, as many will not report it to anyone. Many of our members will suffer from domestic violence (including one in six men) and suffer in the workplace because of it, as they will have poor sick records and be isolated and depressed. Up till now GMB has not offered any assistance or campaign to support these members. Congress resolves therefore to:

- Put a page with advice and information on the GMB website
- Include a session on Domestic Violence Awareness in all workplace organizer courses
- Advise and assist branches to elect DV Officers who will be able to assist members and workplace organisers on this issue.
- Include policies on supporting DV sufferers in all agreements with employers
- Produce and publish an information leaflet to be circulated widely.

This is an issue affecting many members in all our workplaces and GMB should make sure that they do not need to suffer in silence and isolation any longer.

72. SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Congress, the on-going revelations regarding Jimmy Savile's paedophilia are likely to provide a watershed moment in terms of the way British Society views child sex abuse and violence against women more generally. For instance, just like with the Rochdale "grooming" victims, most of Savile's victims did not fit the assumption of what a real victim should be like – and they weren't believed. Many victims of sexual violence who do tell what's happened to them are not believed and hopefully the women – and men – coming forward will challenge the sexist stereotypes. But in another way, Savile – and "grooming" gangs – are atypical. We know that most of all child sex abuse and violence against women is perpetrated by someone they know, either within their family or wider social circle.

Congress instructs the CEC to:

- 1) Review to which women's groups it is affiliated.
- 2) If none of these groups are actively working to challenge the underlying assumptions around sexual violence against women and children then affiliate to at least one group which prioritises this work.

73. EQUAL MARRIAGE

This Congress notes the work of the National Equality Forum and Conference over recent years and particularly the work that has been put in to campaign for equal treatment of same sex couples on issues such as equal marriage.

Congress condemns the Coalition Government and those in the Church of England who have been equivocal on the equal and fair treatment of same sex couples.

Congress believes, quite simply, that same sex couples should have the same choices as the heterosexual community and there should be genuine parity of esteem, with no equivocation.

Congress calls for the Coalition Government, for the Labour Party to state that it will adopt this policy and write it into its policy programme for 2015, with a report back to Congress on developments.

76. HARASSMENT - EQUALITY ACT SECTION 40

This Congress is concerned about the Coalition Government's repeal of the rules outlawing third party harassment which in the 2010 Equality Act under Section 40 enabled an employee to claim against an employer where they have been harassed by a third party such as a customer of the employer.

This is a retrograde step in repealing Section 40 which was a protection to workers particularly in the catering/hospitality and care sectors who are particularly vulnerable to this change in the law and we call on the CEC to mount a campaign to get this particular section of the Act re-instated. An Act that was hard fought for and is now being dismantled by this present government.

Under the 2010 Equality Act Section 138 employees have the power to ask questions of an employer about any unlawful discrimination that they have suffered and the employers were expected to answer within eight weeks.

78. TAKING ACTION TO DEFEND A WOMAN'S RIGHT TO CHOOSE

Congress notes with pride GMB's long standing commitment to womens' right to bodily autonomy, including the right to choose to have an abortion. These rights are frequently under attack by ideological and religious groups and individuals who feel entitled to have a say in the decisions women make. Conference calls on GMB to take action to protect womens' right to choose by:

1. Participating in the forthcoming consultation on provision of counselling for those considering abortion in order to prevent anti-choice organisations being selected to offer counselling.
2. Calling on the Home Secretary and Secretary of State for Health to make a public statement that women seeking to access legal medical treatment, including abortion, are entitled to their right to privacy and to seek treatment without experiencing harassment and intimidation by anti-choice protestors.
3. Sending to branches and women members' information on how to make their voices heard through www.prochoicemajority.co.uk/

80. LEGISLATIVE CHANGES TO MATERNITY LEAVE

Congress is concerned at this Government's continued cutbacks and attacks on workers' rights which are primarily impacting upon women. In particular the proposals originally contained in the Modern Workplaces consultation to reduce maternity leave to 18 weeks will be detrimental to both the mother's and child's health and well-being. In addition, there are proposals to make changes to maternity pay and indications that employment rights for women on maternity leave will also be reduced.

Whilst Congress supports the notion and aim of shared parenting, this will not be achieved by reducing rights to maternity leave. In addition, based on international evidence, it is unlikely that proposals would improve the take-up of leave by fathers/partners.

Congress therefore calls upon the union to actively campaign to protect women's pregnancy and maternity rights and in addition to support campaigns by the TUC, Maternity Action, Working Families and others. Such campaigning should encompass:

- Protection for 26 weeks maternity leave as a minimum;
- Defending enhanced occupational maternity schemes;
- Tackling pregnancy discrimination in the workplace;
- Alternative proposals for paternity/parental leave which promote equality;
- Enhancing, not reducing, family income during maternity;
- Paternity/partner and parental leave.

This Government introduced this amendment at the last minute deciding it was unfair that employers should be forced to pay compensation to employees injured or made ill by their work.

This Congress calls on the Coalition Government to do much more by way of stimulating regeneration than it is currently doing. It is a travesty that Local Enterprise Partnerships (LEPs) are operating in a lot of areas in isolation within relatively parochial boundaries. Much more needs to be done by Central Government to enable better use of derelict land such as along the banks of the rivers running through the towns and cities of former industrial heartlands. Congress believes that areas that were once employers of thousands of workers in manufacturing, could be readily used for investment in green technological industries such as wind farm and other renewable technology. 87. BUSINESS SOLVENCY V ENVIRONMENT

Congress supports the UK Ferry Industry and the vital services it provides in moving people and goods to and from Europe.

Congress further has a fundamental support for protection of the environment.

Congress recognizes that there is currently friction between the two policies as the cost of making environmental improvement, is massively increasing the cost burden to shipping companies operating in the waters around the UK. Low sulphur fuel and the continuous policy of removing other chemicals from fuels is increasing costs to a unsustainable level which will bankrupt many companies.

The business pressures in an industry suffering severe difficulty in recession Europe are taking many companies to the edge of insolvency and the introduction of low sulphur in 2015 will cause the end for many. In P&O Ferries where GMB has membership, the anticipated increase in fuel cost is in the order of 50/60%.

Congress urges GMB officials in conjunction with our other sister unions in the UK and Europe, to lobby for a delay in the introduction of low sulphur. GMB must join the campaign to support the shipping companies until better economic times and after a longer development time to reduce the increase in costs created by environmentally cleaner fuel.

Congress believes that as such the incentive to stay in an occupational scheme will dramatically reduce over time. Congress believes that apart from increasing the burden on the State in future years, this is a scandalous position for the Coalition Government to take.

- That there are some winners – but a majority of people will lose out.
- It is discriminatory
- That the Treasury will gain £6bn per annum
- That an additional National Insurance Tax Rise will seriously hit defined benefit pension schemes and their 7 million members.
- That faster and further rises to the state pension age are likely.

94. IDS PROPOSED FLAT RATE PENSIONS

Congress views with scepticism flat rate pension of £144 a week proposed by Iain Duncan-Smith, and agrees it is a CONservative trick.

Although it is claimed it could lead to a higher pension for women, it would be at the cost of higher contributions over a longer period. It would also result in many current contributors getting lower pensions than their contributions merit.

The £144 is substantially less than current pensions for many who contribute to both the basic pension and SERPS. There may also be substantial increases in contributions for Public Sector workers.

Iain Duncan-Smith has not suddenly become Florence Nightingale, the real purpose of this proposal is to save the Government money.

- The deaths of three patients who had been admitted for routine treatment prompted an independent report before Christmas.
- The unit had already been investigated over potential failings in the cases of six patients who suffered irreversible sight loss after treatment.
- There have been 21 serious clinical and patient information incidents since the clinic opened in September 2011.
- The clinic also lost the records of 8,500 ophthalmology outpatients in 2012.
- The local MP Stephen McPartland has called for Carillion to lose its license to manage medical services.

Congress further notes that:

- Carillion has been involved in unlawful blacklisting.
- Carillion has been involved in systematic cover ups about a system of extortion run by supervisors at Swindon's Great Western Hospital, including the victimization of GMB members who acted as whistle-blowers.

Congress believes:

Congress over the last 2 years Officers and Branch Secretaries have attended more redundancy consultation meetings with Security Officers in our Security industry due to Government cuts. We are accusing the Government of making it easier to sack people after a Minister announced that the period before large-scale redundancies can take place is to be cut from 90 to 45 days.

Reducing the consultation period gives unions less time to work with employers to find ways to save jobs. Removing redundancy rights from fixed-term contract staff would create more jobs and financial insecurity for temporary staff and reduce their chances of redeployment.

Congress, what we should not forget, the plans meant trade unions would no longer have the legal right to be consulted about widespread redundancies of staff who happen to be on fixed-term contracts-many with long years of service.

- The loss of the right to have the case heard by full Tribunal rather than one sole judge
- The necessity to pay (in advance) for Tribunal hearings

If someone has been unfairly dismissed, they could have been out of work for up to one year and will therefore be unlikely to be able to raise sufficient funds to get their case heard. Employers will just hang back and wait to see if the funds are lodged, before bothering to settle or mount a defence. GMB undertakes to make the commitment to bear the costs and advance payments of such Tribunals – following the lead of Bob Crow of RMT.

113. TRIBUNAL POWERS

This Congress deplores the Coalition Government's intervention in the Tribunal system whereby Tribunals will lose the power to make statutory recommendations for failing employers. Under Section 124(3) of the Equality Act 2010 a Tribunal where a discrimination claim has been successfully brought could recommend an employer to take steps to address the problem that occurred. Once again this Government is attacking this Act ignoring all consultation recommendations and we call on the Labour Party to support us in condemning their continued dismantling of this Act.

This Congress, we know how the Tories have taken away our rights as workers but the most shocking is the fact that all tribunal ‘unfair dismissal’ claims are only heard by a sit alone Judge with no panel members. 120. REMOVE THE AGE RATES FOR THE NATIONAL MINIMUM WAGE

This Congress calls upon the GMB to spearhead a UK wide campaign urging the government to remove the age rates from the National Minimum Wage to enable young people to be afforded the same legal position with regard to minimum hourly rates as older workers.

This Congress believes that people at the age of 18 may be just as likely to be homeowners with children as those older than themselves. They should not be discriminated against and should be viewed by the government in the same light as those who are in the same situation but are of more advanced years.

It has been flawed since its inception as it sits outside age discrimination laws. The detractors argue that to pay young people the same as those over 21 would cause them unemployment. Those detractors used the same argument against the introduction of the National Minimum Wage for everyone prior to its introduction.

The GMB has a proud history of fighting against unfairness and discrimination and we call for a campaign to be initiated to right this wrong.

While we can continue the trade union campaign to ensure that employers pay more than the minimum, Congress also believes that we should make GMB membership affordable to these low paid workers. Congress also notes that other trade unions have specific lower rates of membership for apprentices.

Congress therefore calls upon the CEC to address this issue and agree an affordable rate of membership along the lines of that offered by other trade unions.

This Congress calls for the Minimum Wage to be increased to a Living Wage on 1 October 2013, for Companies to stop ripping off the taxpayer by earning profit in the UK, but placing the proceeds offshore to avoid tax, and for the taxpayer to pick up the low wage bill through tax credits.

Congress believes that profits placed offshore should be used to pay a Living Wage and for the costs to the State as a result to be minimised.

126. LIVING WAGE WITHIN THE SECURITY INDUSTRY

Congress, since the Living wage was introduced in 2005, an estimated 7000 Security Officers within the top four UK Companies in the regulated Security sector have benefited. The Campaign for a living wage higher than the statutory minimum rate has stepped up a gear with leading politicians backing the drive for better pay.

Last year, London Mayor Boris Johnson announced that the Living Wage rate in the Capital is to increase by 25p an hour to £8.55, worth £4.5million a year for lower-paid workers. The rate outside London will also arise by 25p to £7.45, benefiting thousands of workers, and compares with the national minimum wage of £6.19 for adults.

An independent study of the business benefits of implementing a Living Wage policy in London found that more than 80% of employers believe that the Living Wage had enhanced the quality of the work of their staff, while absenteeism had fallen by approximately 25%. Two thirds of employers reported a significant impact on recruitment and retention within their organisation. 70% of employers felt that the Living Wage had increased consumer awareness of their organisation's commitment to be an ethical employer.

Zero hours is a common working practice within the security sector where an employee is asked to be available for work without any guarantees that work is available or where an employee is told that there will be work available on specific day(s).

This Congress is opposed to any kind of workplace exploitation of labour and is concerned about the increased practices of many organisations from the smallest of employer to multi-corporations that use all manner of headings to employ young people for zero or little reward therefore, we call upon GMB to initiate a national campaign to put a stop to such unfair practices that take advantage of the high unemployment and competitiveness for jobs and opportunities both amongst the youth academia and artisans of our country. We wish to achieve an acceptable position where training and experience can be reasonably affordable to companies and opportunities with a recognised pay structure available to our youth.

- No to graduates already encumbered with debt having to take voluntary training positions just to get recognised experience for their CV.
- No to any kind of long term unemployed training that does not result in a credible qualification unless such comes with a minimum living wage opportunity guaranteed.
- No to long hours for poorly or unpaid trainees within the Community Care or Health Sectors. 136. THE PRINCIPAL OF JUSTICE

This Congress calls on the GMB to examine and if needed put right the increasing practice of our legal advisors who would seem to be increasingly encouraging our members to take out of court financial compensation settlements rather than going to tribunals to seek true justice even in cases when the member has a strong case.

We the GMB pride ourselves on being built on principals and we recruit by telling members that we will fight injustice and we will support and back them if their rights are attacked. Unfortunately the truth is that too often when they are made an offer to settle members are advised that if they don't take what is considered a 'good offer' then they are on their own.

In reality some of our members care more about our principles and their right to have 'their day in court' than any monetary compensation settlement. They need and want to hear the legal system say that what has happened to them is wrong.

The GMB must put a system in place that attempts to put a stop to unscrupulous bosses who get away with unfairly dismissing, discriminating against or causing harm to our members by being able to just pay them off to keep their mouths shut and go away.

If it has already been established that legally a member has a good chance of winning and they want to pursue their case by taking the company to task on the basic principle of what is right and what is wrong. We the GMB should continue to support them for putting our GMB values and principals before that of the legal corporate businessman and compensation culture.

138. CHANGES TO REGULATION OF THE PRIVATE SECURITY SECTOR IN ENGLAND AND WALES

Congress, the London Security Branch is very concerned at proposals which could lead to greater non-compliance, facilitate more cutting of corners by security firms and make security officers less accountable.

The provisions outlined by the Government are not detailed enough to come to a conclusion. The new regime will require greater inspection, but there's little detail on how well equipped the Regulator will be to undertake such tasks. It is important to reiterate the important role private security plays in society and why it is so vitally important any rise in standards is not compromised.

The biggest risk is the removal of the national licence card and giving the individual licensing requirements to the industry. Removing the national licence card will therefore carry the following risks:

1. It will make it easier for those without licences to work in the sector – if displaying a licence is not a condition, it will no longer be obvious if someone does not possess a licence.
2. Companies will be able to deploy staff that haven't been licenced much more easily – with a national licence it's much more likely any unlicensed staff will be exposed.
3. If the creation of a licence card is given to the company this will also undermine the effectiveness – the company will have control of the licences and so will be able to issue them themselves (this opens up the risk of non-licenced staff being given licence cards).
4. It will also make it harder for the public to judge if a person has a legitimate licence if there are hundreds of different types in circulation.

The London Security Branch calls on the GMB not to agree to any Government changes until there are guarantees on the continuation of a national licence card issued by the Regulator and there are assurances in place when it comes to inspection resources.

139. NATIONALISE THE WATER SUPPLY INDUSTRY

This Congress calls on the GMB to campaign and seek the commitment of the Labour Party to take measures when back in Government to renationalise our water.

The water companies would have you believe that water is a commodity that we have to pay for – it is not. Gas and electric are commodities we could manage without if we had to, but water is life or death – with it you live – without it you die, as does every animal and plant on planet earth.

Yet our water supplies are in the hands of private companies that year on year increase the cost of our bills to enable them to make huge profits to pay out to shareholders and finance large salaries and bonuses to the bosses of these companies.

Yes we need to pay for maintenance of pipes and treatment of sewage but this should be a non-profit making industry. Just think how much lower everyone's water bills could be if there was no shares dividends, executive's wages and bonuses. Our nation's water supplies should be nationalised to provide a benefit to everyone in the nation.

140. RENATIONALISE PUBLIC UTILITIES

142. OPPOSE OFGEM'S CUTS

Congress condemns the savage cuts being imposed on investment in the gas industry by the industry by the industry regulator, Ofgem. The 20% cut in gas distribution and 45% in gas transmission, coupled with changes to the gas mains replacement programme, will compromise safety and threaten security of the gas supply.

Congress calls for a GMB campaign at national, regional and branch level to ensure that a future Labour Government launches a strategic review of the gas industry. The review should focus on ensuring that the gas industry has proper levels of investment to ensure that high safety standards are maintained, whilst also protecting consumers' interests and the environment.

The failed and discredited regulator (Ofgem) should be scrapped, and any review should set out how future regulation of the gas industry will be achieved and put forward proposals for Ofgem's replacement by a body which, as well as protecting consumers, has a statutory duty to ensure the necessary investment in both the gas infrastructure and the skilled and directly-employed workforce needed to operate and maintain it.

143. A STRATEGY FOR GAS

As the Union for gas workers, GMB recognizes that over 80% of UK households are heated by gas. As a result, the nation will be dependent on gas for many decades to come.

However, Congress condemns any new dash to burn gas in order to produce baseload electricity. Congress believes that burning more gas to produce baseload electricity represents the economics of the madhouse, given that it will only serve to increase gas prices for domestic customers. Moreover,

Congress recognizes that low-carbon alternatives like nuclear power are much better suited for producing baseload electricity.

Given that it will play such an important part in the energy mix for generations to come, Congress calls on the CEC to campaign for a comprehensive strategy for gas. The strategy should include:

Ensuring that there is sufficient investment in the gas infrastructure to keep it safe and efficient;

A commitment that the gas infrastructure is installed, operated and maintained by trained and properly rewarded direct labour;

Greater efforts and more investment being put into developing the next generation of energy-efficient gas boilers;

Tackling fuel poverty by placing obligations on the Government and energy companies to ensure that all homes are insulated to the highest possible standard and made as energy-efficient as possible to ensure gas bills are kept to a minimum;

Ensuring that new sources of non-conventional gas like biogas and shale are developed in an environmentally sensitive way;

Drivers currently are working in many cases unacceptable hours to make ends meet.

148. SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT FOR DISABLED PEOPLE

This Congress should be pushing the next Labour Government in re-opening Remploy factories and be putting in place supported employment for disabled people.

Since the first announcement in March 2012 of Remploy factory closures and then the second announcement in December 2012, over 3,000 disabled people have lost their jobs for no fault of their own and over 70% are still unemployed, the most vulnerable disabled workers are the ones most affected.

Now is the time for Congress to ask what the next Labour Government is going to do in providing work for disabled people and what financial support they are going to offer in bringing back specialist workplaces for disabled people. Not only will it provide an income but also bring in a training programme to help our children of today with learning difficulties to establish themselves when they are ready to go to work.

It is an absolute disgrace to see all these Remploy factories closed down, years and years of hard work just gone down the drain. Remploy back in the 1970s employed over 12,000 employees just to see 40 years down the line NOTHING absolutely NOTHING.

This Congress notes that, whilst GMB policy was to fight the closure of Remploy, the condemned work programme has also been a spectacular flop. Something which does not console those disabled people in Remploy who were (and still are) made redundant from Remploy.

Initial figures reveal that approximately only 35 disabled people out of 1,200 have managed to find work. Making this closure of Remploy a complete and utter scandal.

Brothers and Sisters, a bigger scandal would be to leave the situation of employing disabled people as it is. A situation which leaves disabled people with very little hope of ever being financially and socially independent.

152. REMPLOY WORKERS

Congress condemns the actions of the Con-Dem government in closing Remploy factories.

The SAYCE report is not being followed as there is a total disregard of social enterprises and workers co-ops. Little or no help has been given to the disabled workers themselves to set up such enterprises.

Neither have the disabled people been given the support and opportunities to retrain to get mainstream jobs they were promised in the SAYCE report.

According to DPAC – Disabled People Against Cuts – Disabled people who want to work are more likely to be unemployed than non-disabled people in all official statistics since records began.

For example in 2011 the employment rate was 48.8% for disabled people compared to 78.5% for non-disabled people.

154. DEFENCE INVESTMENT

This Congress is aware that following this Government's 2010 strategic defence review, reductions in defence investment has left major gaps in our maritime capability. Locally, Devonport Naval Base and Dockyard have been particularly badly hit, by cuts in the capacity of the Royal Navy which is at an all-time low. This lack of investment means that all facets of defence, especially those that involve our members, has seen a steady but inexorable decline with a corresponding drive down of GMB membership. Our members face hardship and uncertainty, let us not forget, from the lessons of history this dangerous attitude has been played out by successive governments and has cost this country dear, it affects all of us who work in the defence industries and let us not forget that many of our Trade Union members and their families are in the front line serving in or alongside our armed services, many more have been or are ex members of the regular armed or reserve forces. 156. SAVE OUR STEEL INDUSTRY

This Congress notes with concern the 23rd November announcement by Tata Steels of 900 job losses in the UK. Whilst tempered with the news of investment by Tata, that is of no consolation to those losing their jobs and their families. In addition, the job losses will impact on local economies, both in terms of reduced spending in local shops and the knock on effect on other businesses in these areas.

Tata's announcement shows the total failure of the ConDems policies. If they were working, large scale job losses would be a thing of the past, not the regular occurrence it has become since 2010. It is also an indictment on the lack of support for Britain's steel industry in particular and, in manufacturing in general, by successive governments. The proud record of the British steel industry is being consigned to the history books. Just like our utilities, the steel industry is no longer British owned. As a result of the failure to protect British industry, our livelihoods, our economic well-being is not in the hands of EU bureaucrats, as the right wing tell us, but by foreign capitalists. The time has come to change all this.

As the Tories and Lib Dems cannot be trusted, Congress calls on the Labour Party to offer alternative policies to protect the steel industry in particular and manufacturing in general. It needs to discuss with trade unions, rather than just employers, about what needs to be done, including serious consideration of re-nationalising the steel industry. Without steel, nothing gets made. Just as with utilities and transport, the steel industry is too important to be left as the playthings of capitalists.

This Congress is cognisant of the fact that front line Public Sector Workers know all about low morale, misery, low self-esteem and the struggle to make ends meet.

We have suffered a pay freeze over the last three years which, in reality, is a pay cut, with further cuts and threats to jobs to well into the future beyond 2018 with inflation, taxes, cost of living, food, fuel heating costs, petrol. Some Public Sector Workers have to work 37 hours a week or more and have to claim family credits or other benefits to be able to live. Whilst Politicians, Councillors, Chief Executives, Heads of Services and Bankers, who have massive inflatable pay rises, then, cannot do the jobs they get paid for and take on consultants at a cost to ourselves, the Tax Payer.

The failed collaborations and the Job Evaluation/Single Status exercises both wasted money at our expense. We are paying for all their mistakes not our mistakes, and then they say we are all in it together. I don't think so then they give themselves massive bonuses. We cannot see any light at the Congress views with concern the call by Eric Pickles, Secretary of State for Communities, for Councils to spend their financial reserves and resources on providing Council services rather than them being financed, as they should be, by Central Government.

Congress agrees the reality of such a policy, as described by Brian Strutton, National Secretary, is that Local Government employees who have suffered a three year pay freeze, are subsidising the services they provide. Frozen wages are financing essential services. There cannot be a starker example of the contempt on which Pickles and his Coalition colleagues hold Local Authority workers.

As well as signalling the need for a more vigorous Fair Pay Campaign, this motion calls for high profile publicity campaigns highlighting the subterfuge this Coalition adopts in stooping to exploit working people and their communities.

165. PAY FREEZE IN PUBLIC SECTOR

This Congress Beith Engineering Branch would like to move that GMB campaign more thoroughly against current Govt policy of a pay freeze for those earning £21,000 or above.

Many of our members have not had a pay increase for 6 years now because they earn £22,150.

This is way below the national average wage income. Whilst we recognise there are many in our country who earn a lot less, they are still in receipt of a rise.

As you know everything is going up in price; gas, electricity, shopping and petrol etc, etc.

Membership is decreasing and unfortunately some are not renewing to try and save a couple of £s.

167. NATIONAL LAY REPS TASK FORCE

Congress agrees to consider the possibility of setting up a National Lay Representative's Task Force. The Task Force to be made up of a number of Key Activists and Officers from Public Services in each region. The purpose of which should be to develop, identify and progress a National Strategy for all Public Services around:

Membership retention
Campaigning and recruitment

It's a fact that some Branches up and down the Country are already delivering some fantastic results in Public Services using the GMB@Work strategy. However faced with some unprecedented and continuing attacks on our Public Services it seems only sensible to set up a National Strategy for Public Services alone. The intention would not be in any way to change the current GMB@Work strategy only to address the difficulties we are now facing in Public Services which were not there when GMB@Work was adopted.

An Organising/Campaign Strategy for all areas of non-school based staff including arm's length companies and any organisation with recognition and a link to the Local Authority.

169. PUBLIC FUNDED INITIATIVE

Congress, more and more these days PFIs are being used as the source of finance to fund large projects and sometimes much needed improvements for our needs.

Congress we believe however that there needs to be safeguards in this system. In any situation where huge sums of money are being raised there is the risk that things are not always as they appear.

We must ensure that all the money being used in these projects are safely being used by companies who have an untarnished reputation with no illegal past history in any of its businesses.

For example in King's Lynn a proposed incinerator which will be PFI funded has been handed to a company who has been fined in America for pollution of sensitive wetlands and according to a statement in Parliament fraudulent actions of associated companies.

This cannot be right to hand over such large sums of money to any organisation for any project whose record is tarnished.

170. STOP COUNCIL SERVICES BECOMING PRIVATE

Congress urges the CEC to campaign to keep Local Government services in-house as opposed to breaking them up either by outsourcing them to private companies or becoming trusts, which is nigh on the same as becoming independent business. This may then cause our members to lose jobs as well as their terms and conditions along with Trade Union Facilities.

The Unions have had long and proud associations with Local Government and this will impact on the relationship and our ability to negotiate on our members' behalf. Politically this is/has been a Tory agenda which some Labour Authorities are promoting. The GMB nationally need to resist this as we

This Congress urges the Labour Party to stipulate that it will introduce legislation that allows for central and local government to write into public procurement contracts that a share in a company will be taken for the award of a contract as a preferred bidder. 174. BOGUS SELF-EMPLOYMENT AND PAYROLL COMPANIES

This Congress notes that many employers on major government funded contracts are using the recession to further increase the use of bogus self-employment, agency labour and payroll companies.

Bogus self-employment not only denies workers of their entitlement to basic rights such as holiday pay, sick pay, lay off pay and redundancy, but also costs the economy approaching £2 billion.

Direct employment should be the norm for all workers, but especially on government funded contracts.

This Congress notes that over the last thirty years, local government has in effect become local administration, with the Tory aims of councillors meeting once a year to award contracts and then leave administration to council officials, becoming an ever increasing reality. Congress notes that if this trend continues, local people and activists will simply see standing as a local councillor as a waste of their time. Congress calls on the chance that comes about every 50 years or so to reinvigorate local democracy, by giving new powers and responsibilities to local government, to decentralise power away from the centre, and to unlock the vast regenerative potential of local government as a way of helping rebuild the economy.

After the delays by the last Labour Government which prevented a national agreement being placed on the statute book, this should be a priority for the Labour Party when next in power. The GMB now has many school based members and the creation of a national agreement is the best way of ensuring minimum national terms and conditions.

A lot of these children come with a statement which gives important information on how to deal with children with behaviour problems and teachers are ignoring these statements. 184. CAMPAIGN FOR NATIONAL ACTION TO DEFEND THE NHS

Congress, the very future of the NHS is at threat.

- Huge cuts in public services are threatening hospital and community services up and down the country with closure.
- Thousands of health workers jobs have been cut threatening front line services whilst the pay and conditions of NHS staff are under the most serious attack ever.
- Private companies now run significant parts of our NHS for profit, and the Health and Social Care Act will accelerate that process further with services in whole hospitals and areas being readied for privatisation.

There has been massive opposition to the attacks with huge local protests against closures, with health workers beginning to fight back, and with unprecedented numbers of people taking some form of action against Lansley's Health Bill.

Trade Union Activists and anti-cuts campaigners want to join a fight back but need far clearer calls for action now not just after the next election. A serious national campaign of action is urgently needed backed by the Trade Unions and the Labour Party.

We note the public support of the Labour Party for the repeal of the Health and Social Care Act. We urge the Party to make this a firm manifesto commitment, as well as pledging to reverse privatisation of existing health services by bringing them back into the NHS and to end the principle that "any qualified provider" should be allowed to bid to deliver health services.

We call on our union to:

- Give maximum support for campaigns and industrial action against cuts and privatisation
- Campaign for nationally co-ordinated action
- Give national campaigns such as Keep Our NHS Public the support and resources they need to continue their work
- Call a national demonstration in defence of the NHS to highlight the threat to the health service and to help co-ordinate and build the campaigns and the action to defend it.

193. SOUTH WEST NHS PAY CARTEL

This Congress supports action to stop the break-up of the NHS National Terms and Conditions and its preparations for handing over services to private providers.

19 NHS employers in the South West of England have banded together to form an employers group that intends to break away from National pay bargaining. Under the guise of the economic challenge they are looking at ways of drastically cutting pay for local NHS staff by up to 20% in numerous hospitals. This will lead to different rates of pay for NHS staff employed within the same cities dependent upon the decisions of each individual Trust. It will also prepare many of the profitable services for selling off to the private sector.

The effect upon local health communities will be devastating as staff move to areas that are receiving higher pay rates, causing staff shortages in the South West. There can be little doubt that this will seriously undermine the ability of the NHS in the South West to provide the level and quality of care needed. Already we are aware that hospitals in the area are recruiting from abroad as they are unable to attract staff to the area. Housing costs etc. are high in the area. The population within the South West is older than in many areas as it is a prime retirement area. This is leading to increased pressure on NHS and Social Services.

Local economies are already struggling with massive drops in incomes as pensions and benefits are pegged below inflation. All Public Sector workers have seen long term pay freezes and thousands of job losses. Within the South West public sector employment is higher than most other areas within the country and the cuts have already disproportionately affected the area. The local economies are very dependent upon tourism that has suffered significant downturns as people's incomes become squeezed. To cut the pay of NHS workers even further will lead to increased financial pressures on local businesses and further job losses in the private sector.

We call upon Congress through the CEC

- To put national pressure on the cartel members to call for funding increases not staff pay cuts.
- To continue the lobbying of MPs for the area and generate a national campaign against the proposal for local pay and ensure that national agreements are upheld.
- Through its GMB sponsored MPs the Labour Party should commit to a policy of maintaining national negotiations for NHS staff terms and conditions and disbanding the cartel.

198. HAS THE CARE GONE OUT OF CARE FOR THE CARERS

This Congress we respectfully call upon to bring pressure to the government to look at new legislation concerning the private sector of the care Industry, one of the fastest growing industries in our country. There is no legislation setting out a ratio between the number of staff and service users.

The CQC standards say that as long as the service users are not at risk of harm due to incorrect staffing levels, then they have nothing in place that addresses the level of staff in a care home; it is left to the manager's discretion. This however leaves the recommendations of the CQC open to abuse by penny-pinching managers and owners, who do not want to pay for staff.

We are aware of a care home where there are 29 service users on one floor all of which need personal care consisting of showers, baths, incontinence pads changing, catheter bags emptying, meals serving, beds changing and there are only two care assistants allocated to meet their needs and a senior member off staff to administer medication, do daily reports and help with meals if possible.

Can anyone put their hand on their heart and say that it is acceptable that two people should be expected to take responsibility for 29 people, work in this environment and be paid minimum wage?

People seem to live with the misconceptions that care assistants make cups of tea, serve up meals, make beds and sit chatting to service users. Long gone are those days unless you work in a residential home where the Service Users are quite independent and need a small amount of time for personal care and the home is well staffed.

Due to the present government's approach to care, whereby those people who are mobile and do not need specialist care are encouraged to stay in their own homes with support from community care workers. The trend in residential / nursing care homes is changing, in that, the people coming in to care are people with more complex needs such as behavioural problems, alzheimers, dementia, alcohol and drug abuse as well as mental health problems. This is resulting in people being accepted into care homes which cannot provide them with the correct care they require.

Many homes give in-house training, this consists of watching a DVD followed by a question and answer session and then receiving a certificate that goes into their personal file to show any inspecting body that a person has been trained in that subject. (This is a joke).

The government has responded to the recent outcry over care provided in hospitals and care homes to sufferers of dementia by proposing to give more money to the hospitals and private care sector. I believe that there are some owners who will not use this money where it is needed but will use it to their own advantage.

What the government should be doing is closing loopholes in the legislation which allow bad management in the care of the elderly and vulnerable adults. Look at putting a system of assessments in place to stop poorly staffed homes taking in service users with special needs. Put the money into building facilities that meet the requirements of these people with the right number of staff with the correct training and with legislation in place to protect both service users and care assistants alike from being exploited by greedy owners.

Let the GMB take up the challenge and start a National campaign to put legislation in place where by the ratio of care assistants to Service Users is more realistic and also ensure that before a person goes to work in a care home of any kind they have a minimum of a NVQ Level 2 Certificate or similar in Health Care.

Let us stop hearing the horror stories about the care industry, and put the right legislation in place to stop them.

200. FAIR PAY FOR A DAYS WORK

This Congress we respectfully ask to take up the challenge to change the pay structure within the care industry.

Although sex discrimination laws outlaw men getting paid more than women for doing the same job, historically care has been carried out by mostly women and therefore low has been the norm.

We ask that these workers be given a living wage that reflects the responsibility they take on every day. Most are responsible for very frail and vulnerable people who need specialist care that cannot be given to them in their own homes or hospital.

Most care assistants are paid the minimum wage and receive a few pence more for having an NVQ level 2 and if they are a senior care assistant with a Level 3 they may receive a pound more.

Care assistants under the age of 21 doing exactly the same job as a person over 21 and will receive less money on average which is just over five pounds at the minimum wage rate. Some care homes have started apprenticeships for care assistants paying just over two pounds per hour. We got rid of age discrimination but are we not discriminating against a person who is under 21 who is doing exactly the same job as a person older than them?

Most care assistants supplement their wage by working for agencies or picking up extra shifts in their workplace rather than having a day off to rest.

Is it not time we paid the care assistants what they are worth and give them the respect they deserve. An average day for a care assistant can be as follows

1. 7.30am briefing from the night staff.
2. 8.00am check the residents in their rooms; give drinks to those who are awake.
3. Give drinks to the residents which the night staff may have got up and are in the lounge.
4. Care assistants give personal care to those residents that can come out of their beds into the communal lounge ready for breakfast.
5. 8.30 – 9.45 serve breakfast to those residents that can feed themselves.
6. Take breakfast to and assist (feed residents) that are unable to feed themselves.
7. Collect all dirty pots rinse off and take to kitchen with the hot cupboard.
8. Resume giving personal care to residents, this can be bed baths, showers, or strip washes, emptying and changing catheter bags, changing stoma bags. Many residents have to be hoisted into wheelchairs to be transported from their rooms, after their beds have been stripped and remade as they are normally soiled even if pads are worn during the night.
9. Residents who are unable to leave their beds have to be bed bathed, clean clothes and pads put on and pressure care is given (turned every 1 or 2 hours).
10. At some point the care assistants will be able to have a 10 minute break.
11. By the time most of the residents are washed and dressed, it will be time for lunch.
12. Lunch is served and the whole process of feeding the residents starts again.
13. The carers will have a 20 min break if they are working a full day (12 -13 hours) and then start the whole process again changing residents and their beds again if required, this continues up until tea time when the whole process is repeated, residents are fed, then washed changed and put to bed, if not already in bed

It is a disgrace that people have to work like this, for a minimum wage and with little or no thanks?

We ask the GMB to take up this challenge and run a national campaign to raise wages in the care industry by a substantial amount above the minimum wage.

This Congress recognises that over many years of successive Governments the public has been ripped off with the introduction and increase in many taxes within society that mainly have an adverse effect on the low paid.

At the same time the Coalition has given the higher paid in society considerable tax concessions by a reduction of the top rate of tax.

We have had a rise in VAT, the constant threat of increasing Council Tax forcing many people who are claiming benefits to now pay a kind of poll tax element of the Council Tax which they never had to do before from their benefits.

We've also seen the removal of working tax credits and family tax credits. At the same time, Governments have allowed the relaxation of our tax laws which allow tax loopholes to benefit large organisations and the rich and famous not to pay their fair way with their taxes by either banking off-shore, or by paying expensive lawyers to get them round paying their taxes like the rest of us.

210. TAX EVASION

Congress, for too long many larger companies have legally avoided paying a full quota of tax into the British system.

This is not fair on the smaller traders who do not have the means of “smart” industrial lawyers and tax advisors at their disposal.

Furthermore it “robs” the British people of much needed revenue of money that has been generated into Britain only to be paid into “off-shore” bank accounts which has no benefit to the country as a whole.

It also illustrates that this Government will only pay “lip service” to this kind of practice particularly when we learn that many of these companies have close ties with the Conservative Party and indeed contribute to the Tories funds.

This is unacceptable and borders on dishonesty which does damage to the British reputation of fair play.

Whilst we accept that to approach this Government about improving this situation and making it more honest and transparent would be a waste of time, we do now ask that Congress whilst supporting the essence of this motion, make it GMB policy to persuade the Labour Party to make this issue part of its next election manifesto.

216. UK INDUSTRIAL POLICY

This Congress supports the work of the TUC in developing thinking towards an Industrial policy for the UK in its "German Lessons" publication¹.

Congress supports a UK industrial policy based on core principles including:

- The need to rebalance the economy away from cushioning the financial chicanery of the City of London and towards a productive, job creating productive economy;
- The need for 'patient' finance to the productive economy;
- The development of a high skilled productive workforce through a training and development levy of companies, organised through licenced sectoral bodies made up of employers and employees representatives;
- The development of robust, quality, apprenticeship programs run by sectoral bodies made up of employers and employees representatives;
- The radical reform of the finance and banking industry, to create a utilitarian banking system focused on productive job creation;
- The use of Government contract tendering to drive and reward companies on socially useful grounds (job creation, skill promotion, promotion of industrial relations, tax compliancy etc)
- Raising finance for industrial research and development through a financial transactions tax to suppress socially useless financial speculation;

- The need for tax fairness and an end to tax havenry to allow great companies to develop on a level taxation 'playing field';
- The reform of company law to stress the societal obligations of those petitioning for limited company status over short-term shareholder return;
- The development of industrial planning through national and regional economic partnership bodies;
- The need to create a "Green New Deal"

In furtherance of this motion Congress instructs the GMB to:

- publish a fully researched case for a UK Industrial policy
- consult widely amongst GMB branches as part of the process of researching for a UK Industrial policy;
- actively press the case for the GMB conception of a UK Industrial policy at the TUC, with GMB sponsored MPs and within the Labour Party as a whole, with other political parties and with civic society;
- Host a one day national, public conference to launch the GMB case for a UK Industrial policy, followed by a series of regional events;
- Plan a public campaign to propagate the need for a UK Industrial policy, including a full-hearted press and media campaign

This Conference calls upon the Central Executive Council to work with all trade unions to organise a general strike. We do understand the difficulty that this would mean because of the anti-trade union law that was brought into place by the Thatcher Government and continued under Labour.

We demand the right to withdraw our labour as our fellow trade unionist can in the EU. To accept the attacks on our living standard without increasing our resistance will only lead to the Government continuing unabated in removing the gains the Trade Union Movement has made through the years.

This Congress notes:

1. The government has aggressively advanced on all fronts against the interests of working class people.
2. It continues to aggressively attack employee rights at work and their ability to hold employers to account.
3. The impact of Government policies are that the living standards of the working class have been reduced, whilst the living standards of the richest 1% have continued to increase.

This Congress believes:

4. That the attacks by this government on social security, employment security and health and well-being for the vast majority of people will continue and increase.

5. That an effective campaign to defend public services and living standards may require acts of peaceful civil disobedience and protest.

This Congress resolves:

6. That it will support grassroots collective campaigns of peaceful civil disobedience and protest against the policies of austerity pursued by this government.

225. THE BRITISH ECONOMY

This Congress notes

- That the British economy contracted in the last 3 quarters of 2012 which was the longest double-dip recession for over 70 years. Since the coalition's emergency June 2010 Budget the economy has not grown at all. By comparison the main industrialised countries of the OECD have grown by 3.3% over the same period.
- The Coalition claims that its policies are aimed at deficit-reduction. But the deficit is on a sharply upward path, rising by nearly a quarter in 2012.

Congress welcomes the Labour Party's 5-point plan for economic recovery. This includes:

1. £2bn tax on bank bonuses to pay for 25,000 'more affordable' homes and it claims there would be a jobs guarantee for all young people.
2. Bring forward investment projects like new school buildings.
3. Temporarily reverse the Tory-led Governments VAT rise – a £450 boost for families with children.
4. Cut VAT on home improvements to 5% for a year.
5. Give small firms a tax break to take on extra workers.

Congress believes that

- The Coalition policy is a complete failure, causing the economy to contract, living standards to fall and the deficit to rise.
- The commitment to create new jobs and homes under the 5-point plan is welcome, but insufficient.

Congress further believes that

- The scale of the country's problems goes far beyond the scale of the response outlined by the Labour Party's the 5-point plan.
- £2bn from the bankers' bonus tax is insufficient compared to the £56bn investment shortfall which has caused the recession.
- £2bn could fund EITHER 25,000 new homes OR could provide minimum wage for 200,000 under-25s. It can't do both.
- 25,000 "affordable homes" is inadequate compared to the 1.8m households on council waiting lists in England alone.

226. A STRONG VOICE FOR OUR UNION IN THE LABOUR PARTY

This Congress reaffirms its recognition that our union must strengthen our political voice and must, in particular, work to ensure that the Labour Party is properly responsive to the needs of our members.

Congress, accordingly, welcomes our union's successful motion carried by the 2012 Labour Party Conference resolving that "Labour in government will develop an active industrial strategy to safeguard the national energy infrastructure and ensure we have the manufacturing capacity that makes the country fit for a strong and prosperous economic future."

Congress calls for this motion and any others carried at the Labour Party Conference to be duly inserted, as this Congress agreed last year, into the Party's Rolling Programme of policies. We reaffirm our belief that, in respect of Labour Party policy-making, the GMB and other affiliates and Constituency Labour Parties must be able to move amendments to the Party's policy documents (or to refer back to certain parts of them), rather than being obliged to accept or reject a document in its entirety. We, also, believe that where there is a significant difference of opinions, the Labour Conference should be allowed to vote to decide between alternative options.

Congress welcomes the statement of the Labour Party leader that "we should not be afraid of debates" and, in this connection, we reiterate our call to Labour's national Executive Committee to remove the restrictive "Contemporary" criteria which currently result in many motions of genuine concern being ruled out of order (as happened to 60 motions in 2012). Sufficient Conference time must, in any case, be allocated for more elected Conference delegates to engage in serious policy debates.

Finally, in order to ensure that the legitimate interests of GMB members are properly respected, this Congress:

- 1) Reaffirms its belief that, in Parliamentary Selections, sitting MPs should, in future, need at least 66% of the nominations from the constituency's wards and affiliated trades unions branches in order to achieve automatic reselection;
- 2) Reaffirms its support for the proposal to increase the overall number of CLP seats on Labour's NEC, in addition to reserving seats for Scotland and Wales;
- 3) Calls on the Labour Party NEC, in respect of elections for leaders of local authority Labour Groups, to consider the option of an electoral college involving not just Labour councillors but, also, individual Party members and members of affiliated organisations;
- 4) Calls on all GMB representatives at every level to pursue all the above objectives with maximum vigour in order to ensure that our members' voices are heard.

To this end we should jointly agree and publish a series of articles in our various Union and Party journals, ensuring that in opposition to the right wing press, we promote viable working class policies, as an alternative to the austerity propaganda we have been fed since 2010.

Congress reaffirms that GMB resources should be directed to supporting candidates who promote the interests of GMB members.

Congress notes that regrettably not all Labour candidates are pledged to collective ownership, under democratic control, of the means of production, distribution and exchange.

Congress further notes that the MP for Brighton Pavillion, Caroline Lucas, does broadly support the political aspirations of the GMB, and that she has worked collaboratively with GMB when applicable, to promote the interests of our members.

235. EMPLOYMENT LEGISLATION & LABOUR GOVERNMENT

Congress recognizes that at the time of meeting, there is less than two years to the next General Election.

It is a belief that a Labour Government may realistically be returned after only one term in opposition. It is recognized that many traditional Labour voters have turned from our party and if the movement can persuade them to support in 2015, the following five years must demonstrate that Labour are on their side and must deliver tangible benefits to working people.

Congress recognizes that it is not politically possible to reverse all the Thatcher/Major, anti-working people legislation, but an incoming Labour government must selectively introduce progressive employment legislation which is currently 'stacked' heavily in favour of employers.

Congress wishes to see the production of a priority list of possible improvements with the intention of levelling the playing field as regards employment rights.

The GMB leadership in conjunction with sister unions, its own CEC and political committee and membership, must produce a list of priorities which it expects a new Labour Government to introduce and is a pre-requisite for our support, financially and logistically.

Improvements to current industrial action balloting, so removing employers' ability to stop action on technicalities, dismissal rules on the basis of a civil test of balance of possibilities rather than reasonable belief, trade union recognition on a majority of those voting, are a few examples, but clearly this is not an exhaustive list.

Congress wishes the production a priority agenda which Labour must sign up to. Individual Labour candidates must similarly agree to support these priorities in return for the financial and other support mechanisms which they clearly require if they are to be elected.

Congress expects our requirements to be in place for Congress 2014, by which time we will be less than one year from the election.

Congress wishes the lawful right of trade unions to access non-union business sites so that it may present and demonstrate the benefits of trade union membership and the improvements to businesses and workers, where common goals may be shared.

238. THE LABOUR PARTY AND ITS POLICY ON WELFARE

Congress condemns the vicious attacks that the Con-Dem Government has launched against the most vulnerable members of society, such as the unemployed and people with disabilities, using them as scapegoats for the economic crisis. The rhetoric being used harks back to 19th century notions of deserving and undeserving poor, when unemployed people were blamed for their plight and forced into workhouses so as not to be a “drain” on society. The misuse of data is also shocking (e.g. George Osborne launched a whole policy to limit the number of children the poor can have pointing to the number of families claiming 100K housing benefit per year – when an FOI was sent to the DWP it turns out this is just five families).

However, Congress is equally disappointed at the failure of the Labour Party to properly challenge the Government’s assault on the unemployed and other vulnerable members of our society. Instead of attacking the neoliberal ideology that underpins the Con-Dems thinking, and seeking to provide a genuine alternative perspective – based on equality, justice and fairness for all – it concedes the principle that there are deserving and undeserving poor. For example, Ed Balls has stated that if Labour wins the next election, after two years the unemployed will have to accept any job or lose their benefits.

Congress calls upon the CEC to lobby the Labour Party to change its policy on welfare to reflect the long-established principles of the Welfare State.

In order to give CLP members a genuine, democratic choice, Congress calls on the Labour Party to:

1. Have shortlists of at least six at CLP selection meetings
2. Those shortlisted to hold a cross section of views to represent the various strands of opinion within the Party
3. At least one shortlisted candidate to be selected by the region.

Congress calls on GMB to lobby at every level within the Labour Party for this motion, and others passed at the 2012 Labour Party conference, to be included in the Party's Rolling Programme of policies.

As it is theirs and future generations that are going to be greatly affected by the decisions being made this is the right thing to do and in these troubled times it is about time Westminster also allowed all British 16 year olds to vote and have a say in decisions being made that will determine their future.

In the 2007-2008 parliamentary sessions a private members bill was sponsored by Julie Morgan and only got to the second reading in the commons, October 2012 introduced into the House of Lords sponsored by Lord Tyler awaiting a date for its second reading.

Congress therefore, calls on the next Labour government to set up a Constitutional Convention, composed of ordinary voters, not the usual suspects of academics, jurists and politicians.

This would have a remit to look at all aspects and components of the constitution, looking at how to bring it into the 21st Century. These machines are known as “crack cocaine of gambling”. There must be a cap on the number of these machines in individual betting shops.

The Government should carry out a review of FOBT’s that considers reducing the maximum stake from £100, increasing the time between plays and the way the machines are licensed. We also believe that the best way to prevent the further clustering of betting shops is to change their planning category, giving residents and local government more say over their local high street.

261. BETTING SHOPS, HIGH STAKE GAMING MACHINES AND FIXED ODDS TERMINALS

Congress agrees that gambling can become a serious addiction and is increasingly the cause of serious financial problems in families. This motion notes with concern the rapid proliferation of high stake gaming machines and fixed odds terminals in betting shops. These additions to conventional gambling are rightly referred to as “the Cocaine of the Gambling Industry” and are mushrooming in every High Street, and poorer communities.

The growth of these establishments coupled with the industry call for further deregulation should set alarm bells ringing.

This motion is not calling for a return to the days of back street bookies but calls for control of the concentration and form of gambling on our High Streets to be controlled by Local Authorities.

269. LEGAL AID CUTS

This Congress is aware that in April this year our Legal Aid system will collapse, which will cause a devastating effect to millions of people!

Which means the people who cannot afford to pay for a solicitor, will be unable to get justice, so the poorest people in our society will suffer!

Under the Legal Advice and Assistance Act 1949, our Legal Aid system started but now suddenly this coalition government has decided we do not need it and wants to save £350,000,000 cutting the system! But without some of the general public having access to Legal Aid this will cause a lot of problems, and there is a strong possibility of it costing the taxpayer more money in the long run.

The people who cannot access Legal Aid will pursue cases which have a limited chance of success, and as these will lack legal advice and will be unrepresented, they will also take longer to resolve, as they lack the professionalism and quality a solicitor brings to the case, so will end up costing more. So if the Court system is dealing with a lot more cases like these the costs will increase with each one.

Also due to there being a lot of cases, this will cause a backlog, which will slow the system, and again cost more money.

The cuts will affect a lot of people as there will be cuts for divorces, adoption, family maintenance, welfare benefits and employment matters so could potentially affect thousands of people.

This government has attacked our jobs, our NHS, our Councils, our rights at work, now our Legal Aid system. Where is it going to stop?

This is wrong! The most vulnerable people will suffer because of this, whilst the rich who can afford to pay will get justice our legal services should provide for all not just the rich.

We need to campaign to fight this up and down the country, and petition the government, and not rest until our Legal Aid system is restored to how it was.

The revision of this Scheme will take away the right to compensation from those suffering minor injuries which the original Scheme could be awarded compensation of between £1,000 to £2,000 and this would impact on nearly 90% of the victims of violent crimes.

We call upon the Labour Party which they form the next government to amend this legislation which was the last safety net for many victims of crime who could not receive compensation through other means and went some way to help them overcome the trauma of an assault or attack whilst carrying out their employment.

The recent Hillsborough Enquiry shows the pattern of police corruption in South Yorkshire police, and in fact Orgreave is part of the pattern of cover ups and lies by the police from many different forces, which are now being exposed.

If we do not resolve this issue, this may cause a rise in youth crime and victims of that crime. 277. MORE FUNDING REQUIRED FOR SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES IN DEPRIVED AREAS TO REDUCE INEQUALITIES IN EDUCATIONAL ATTAINMENT AND GIVE CHILDREN A BETTER CHANCE OF ESCAPING THE POVERTY TRAP

This Congress notes that the gulf between the poor and rich of the world is widening. Within the UK, the financial gap between the wealthy and the poor is not narrowing and differences in health between social classes are becoming greater. Poverty and social inequality have direct and indirect effects on the social, mental and physical well-being of an individual. It is important to note that poverty and inequality are closely linked. It is believed that income inequality produces psychosocial stress which leads to deteriorating health and higher mortality over time. Those who live in deprived communities, where there is under-investment in the social and physical infrastructure, experience poor health, resulting in higher mortality for those of lower socio-economic class. The effects of income inequality also spill over into society, causing stress, frustration and family disruption, which then increase the rates of crime, homicide and violence.

We therefore call upon Congress to support extra funding for schools in deprived areas and also the need for community funding for parenting classes/education for parents around health and nutrition and literacy.

This Congress considers religious schools, by their very nature, to be divisive. They do not integrate children of different background and belief systems. The very fact they are religious based means they cannot give proper analysis in lessons of both the natural and social sciences. It can be no coincidence that there has been a decline in acceptance of the Theory of Evolution at the same time as the number of schools run by religious organisations has been increasing.

Throughout history, religion has sought to stifle science and reason. Bad enough in the age of parchments and alchemy, but it still continues in the age of computers and astrophysics. The likes of Galileo would be doing double summersaults in their graves.

To ensure we have a new generation of questioning citizens, and not just scientists, and to prevent a new Dark Age of ignorance and lack of enquiry, Congress calls for the abolition of all schools run by religious organisations.

This Congress recognises the value of Social Housing to the community.

It condemns the Tory led government policy on 'right to buy' which will seriously reduce the social housing availability and add to the 1.7 million people in England alone on the ever-growing council house waiting list.

It recognises that the social housing shortage can only be addressed by a massive programme of house building and that this must be built by directly employed workers and to the highest environmental and sustainable standards of this National Code for Sustainable Homes.

It's no good leaving the market to decide, that's what's got us into this mess!

Council Tax payments must show the cost to the individual household for each service it is used for such as refuse collection, housing repairs, youth provision, and so on, and in the same terms we should be pushing Government to give us individual details on the deductions from our wages of National Insurance payments, such as how much is used for the NHS and how much for defence.

This Congress believes a £33 billion north-south high-speed rail scheme planned to extend the HS2 line to the North of England is unlikely to bring benefits to Plymouth or the wider South West.

With rail spending per head in the South West just a third of that in the rest of the country there is concern that Plymouth and the far south west will be side-lined economically.

It's crucial the Government doesn't forget the significance of the South West and the need for investment in our transport system but it appears once again the West Country is the poor relation when it comes to rail improvements and economic investment.

Better transport links would safeguard our member's jobs and would create much needed jobs now and boost our economy.

This Congress calls for a fundamental shake-up in public transport.

In particular the way that bus services are financed leads to a situation where bus companies act as a cartel, or a monopoly in some cases, and do not help the passenger or give value for money to the fare-payer.

Congress believes that the near thirty years of bus privatisation has not worked and policy makers need to go back to the drawing board so that retired people can get from A to B at a reasonable time and from a reasonable bus service.

This Congress is called upon to lobby the coalition to bring fuel prices down by slashing tax (70%) to help hauliers to transport goods and supplies across the UK which in turn would lead to a reduction in costs for goods and foodstuffs which would help the low income families, elderly and vulnerable in our society.

It is worth noting because of the population's shrinking household budget and allows and encourages firms like Silvercrest, for example, (Irish based distributors) to supply Tesco and others cheap foodstuff, value range burgers containing horsemeat, to meet customer demand for cheaper food.

292. EUROTUNNEL

Congress notes with concern, the ever increasing dominance of Eurotunnel in the highly competitive Ferry, coastal shipping and tunnel market.

Congress urges the GMB leadership to lobby and campaign with its various partners in the UK and in Europe, to ensure a level playing field in an industry facing immense challenges in recession Europe.

Congress notes that the Channel Tunnel Treaty was signed by Thatcher and President Mitterrand and much state sponsorship was provided for the construction of a fixed link between the UK and France/Europe. Congress further notes, due to the underlying unsustainable business model created by construction costs, shareholders have taken a 'substantial hit', leaving the current business unburdened by the building expense. The ferry owners do not enjoy the effective benefit of having expensive ship construction costs written off.

Congress is alarmed by the dominance of Eurotunnel, heightened further by the purchase of former Sea France ships, following the collapse of the French Rail subsidiary. Congress is further alarmed by the expansion policies of Eurotunnel, which now see as part of its plans, a wish to control the Northern France ports of Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne.

Congress believes that Eurotunnel already command many unfair advantages as opposed to the ferry companies and in a world dominated by Oil and an ever rising Oil cost burden, which has no impact on the Tunnel, there is a serious possibility of a totally dominant player, surrounded by a fractured and weak Ferry industry, which is in no one's long term interest.

Congress Requests the GMB leadership to work in the UK and in Europe, with Government and other social partners, to ensure a true level playing field and eradicate any unfair competitive advantages, in the industry which provides vital trade links and moves people and goods around Europe.

303. THE BEDROOM TAX

This Congress notes:

1. The Government has enacted legislation called the Welfare Reform Act ("the Act") due to come into force in April 2013.
2. The Act reduces housing benefit by between 14% and 25% for those in social housing (council housing or housing association housing) if they are deemed to be 'under occupying'.
3. 'Under occupying' includes:
 - 3.1 Having one more room for each single person or couple (even if the 'extra' room is a box room or for storing disability equipment).
 - 3.2 Having more than one room for two children under 10 of a different gender.
 - 3.3 Having more than one room for two children under 16 of the same gender.
 - 3.4 Having a room for a foster child.
4. Across the country there are already 1 million people on council waiting lists for one bedroom properties. In Leeds 20,000 council homes have been lost in the last 15 years.
5. The Welfare Minister, Lord Freud, owns a London Home worth an estimated £1.9million but pays only an estimated three times as much council tax as a person living in a bedsit.
6. The Government refused to implement a tax on very high value residential property or re-assess council tax on these mansions.
7. Official estimates are that 95,000 families will be forced into poverty due to the bedroom tax.
8. The Hooper family (reported in The Mirror 27 January 2013) have five children and live in a four-bedroom Council house in Hull. Their disabled daughter has her own room – built as an extension, as her wheelchair doesn't fit in the box room. The Hooper family will lose £20 per week due to the bedroom tax as not all children are sharing a room.

This Congress believes:

9. That under occupancy of Council housing is not the problem, the lack of Council housing being built is the real problem that needs addressing.
10. Even where a resident would prefer to down-size, there are no properties to move into.
11. That solution to a lack of social housing is not to punish those who live in social housing but to build more council homes.

This Congress resolves:

12. To support any GMB members affected by this policy who raise it with the union.
13. To publicise the unfair impact of this law and support campaigns for it to be abolished.
14. To support any network of those tenants effected.
15. To ask local Councils to take any practical measures to mitigate or avoid the impact of this legislation i.e. by not enforcing arrears and not evicting tenants where the eviction is caused by this benefit change.
16. To ask that GMB sponsored Councillors act in a manner consistent with this motion.

308. A CALL TO BOYCOTT WORKFARE SCHEMES

Congress notes:

- There are currently several schemes which place benefit claimants on compulsory work placements including: mandatory work activity, the DWP's 'Work Experience' programme and 'Community Action Programme', and all of what is mandated by the private companies running the Work Programme including A4E and Avanta.
- All of these schemes force a claimant to work without pay and on threat of loss of benefits if they refuse to participate.
- As well as this being an attack on claimants, it is also an attack on workers, as free, government subsidised labour inevitably pushes down wages and terms and conditions, and ultimately replaces paid jobs.

Congress condemns:

All those employers who profit from the unpaid labour these schemes require, including retailers such as Poundland, Superdrug and Asda; charities including British Heart Foundation and Cancer Research; and local authorities, including Labour run Newham and Haringey Councils.

Congress applauds:

- Both Unite and PCS trade unions who have already pledged a boycott of workfare placements.
- The innovative and inspiring action by groups such as Boycott Workfare, Solidarity Federation, and many claimants groups, whose persistent pickets and campaigning has so far caused both Oxfam and Holland & Barrett to bow to pressure and pull out of the schemes.
- The motion passed at the Trades Union Councils Annual Conference 2012 which resolved to support the call for a boycott of workfare placements.

Congress resolves to:

- Officially affiliate to the Boycott Workfare campaign.
- Recognise that the labour movement should be at the forefront of fighting this restructuring of the labour market, and therefore make this issue one of our campaigning priorities.
- Use our networks and media links to publicise this campaign, and name and shame those employers who participate in it.
- Publicise the details of different claimants support and campaign groups amongst our own union networks, branches and members.
- Encourage members to participate in local and national actions and demonstrations against workfare, and to advertise these widely.
- Use our links to the Labour Party to get them to pledge to abolish all of these schemes, and any other form of mandatory unpaid work if re-elected
- Recognise that as organised workers we should use our collective strength to act in solidarity with those claimants being exploited, by leading and supporting a boycott of workfare placements and all forms of compulsory unpaid work at a local level by all means necessary, up to and including industrial action.

We recognise that it is both an attempt to force unemployed workers to work for free, and an attempt to undermine wages and conditions for all workers.

Furthermore the Work Programme is the privatisation of unemployment, as providers are paid for each person referred to them.

The Work Programme has failed to help get unemployed people into work, with A4E helping just 4 percent of their customers into work.

313. SOCIAL CARE

This Conference asks in the time of cuts on why the needs of the most vulnerable are being failed by the CONDEM Government.

In my city of Liverpool the local Labour administration have already stopped services to Moderate Users that means Service Users who are already finding it hard to cope and there is some risk to their health, and cannot carry out some basic tasks no longer receive direct care from the authority but from voluntary groups already swimming against the tide of these savage cuts.

Now due to £252 per head cuts put on this city, they are now considering removing the substantial banding, this means Service Users who are having significant difficulties in coping and are potentially at significant risk such as abuse or neglect or an inability to carry out the majority of personal care or domestic routines will have their services removed.

This means thousands of elderly and vulnerable service users without care directly from the local authority are to be left fending for themselves, or to be ripped off by the profiteers who circle like vultures on the carcass of this nation and the weak to store their profits in offshore accounts.

I call on the Executive committee to lobby this Government to resource the authority to take care of the most vulnerable.

314. TRADE UNION FRIENDS OF ISRAEL /PALESTINE SOLIDARITY

This Congress unashamedly notes that this Union is affiliated to the Palestine Solidarity Campaign.

Congress also notes that this Union is not affiliated to the Trade Union Friends of Israel.

Congress notes our 2011 decision that “this Union should take a lead in driving forward the disinvestment and boycott initiatives” of “companies who profit from illegal settlements, the Occupation and the construction of the wall”.

Congress notes that a major priority of Trade Union Friends of Israel is to “fight the boycott” and thus to campaign against the policy of this Union.

Congress determines that GMB members should not receive funding or otherwise be facilitated to either participate in TUFU sponsored visits to Israel or speak to TUFU platforms.

Congress believes that our Union should recognise and honour its affiliation to the Palestine Solidarity Campaign by sending a representative on the next available PSC organised delegation to the Palestinian territories.

This Congress applauds the citizens of those countries in the Middle East who are campaigning to overthrow dictatorship in this region, and replace with democratic elected Governments.

Congress also recognises the part that women are playing in this process and that their contribution should be recognised with a view to advancing equality for women in a democratic society and not revert back to previous suppressing regimes.

317. JUSTICE FOR COLOMBIA

Congress, the killings of trade unionists have continued in Colombia, with at least 17 colleagues assassinated in 2012. Our colleagues also face imprisonment, death threats, false accusations and are often forced to flee their homes, simply for speaking out in defence of trade union and human rights. The majority of these crimes are carried out by state forces and paramilitary groups, and in 95% of cases, no-one is brought to justice. Congress condemns the fact that despite this situation the European Parliament recently voted to approve an EU Colombia Free Trade Agreement.

An armed conflict has raged for more than 50 years in Colombia, mired with intense political persecution and causing severe humanitarian conflict; over 5 million Colombians are currently displaced from their homes as a result of violence, the majority of them women and children. Despite the opening of peace talks between the Government and the FARC Guerrilla group in November 2012, the Government refuses to agree to a bilateral ceasefire, and hostilities, including indiscriminate bombings and open combat, continue in civilian areas. The attacks on civil society activists have increased in recent months, with members of Patriotic March, a civil society opposition movement for peace and social justice which many unions are involved in, among those most persecuted.

Those who speak out against this situation are targeted, such as Lilianny Obando, Colombian Trade Unionist and single mother, imprisoned for more than 42 months without being convicted of any crime. Lilianny was released in March 2012 following a JFC Campaign. However Activists continue to be detained on a massive scale, with over 7000 political prisoners currently held in Colombian jails. In December 2012, David Ravelo, Colombian Human Rights defender who worked closely with the USO oil workers union was convicted to 18 years in prison.

The Colombian Trade Union Movement and other civil society representatives, including Colombians for Peace, have made it clear that social inequality – the root cause of the conflict – must be addressed in order to put an end to the war, and that civil society must play a role in the process.

Congress congratulates Justice for Colombia's (JFC) successful work in supporting Colombian Trade Unions and civil society – work that the Colombian Trade Union Confederation (CUT) leadership has described as "crucial to the survival of many leaders". Conference therefore calls on GMB and all affiliates to:

1. To support the Justice for Colombia Peace Campaign
2. To continue to oppose the EU- Colombia FTA
3. To continue to provide financial and political support for Justice for Colombia

4. To write to all branches, encouraging them to affiliate to Justice for Colombia.

318. MALI

Congress rejects David Cameron's reasons given for the sending of troops into Mali, claiming "they will not be on frontline duties, but used to train the Mali Army".

In Vietnam the USA started as Advisors to the South Vietnam Army, and ended with a full all, out war which cost the lives of over 68,000 American troops and a further 500,000 Vietnamese people.

We went to war in Iraq on the basis of a lie, our Tony Blair took this country to war on the basis of a falsehood, we cannot allow that to happen again.

This country along with a number of countries have been fighting in Afghanistan for the past 10 years, not only have over 400 British troops lost their lives, but thousands of troops have been left scarred by their experiences, and badly injured and thousands of Afghanistan people have been killed or injured by the war, to what end?

When will the British Government learn we cannot be the world's policemen, we need to learn our place in the world, and not think to bomb and the bullet solve the world's problems.

As trade unionists we know well that peace comes best around a table when we sit down and resolve our differences, our politicians have a lot to learn. We must stay out of Mali.

319. CONTROLS ON FOREIGN AID

This Congress calls on the GMB to put pressure on the UK Government to have a rigorous look at the way the Tax payers money is given away in foreign aid. Furthermore we have to be more selective in ensuring who aid is given to and how we distribute it to ensure it reaches its intended targets and not into the back pockets of other Governments corrupt Ministers.

We also have to remember that under this Government we will have growing numbers of homeless and over 3.6 million children in this country living in poverty. It may be that some of the £12.7 million given away overseas may be better spent looking after our own needy and vulnerable.
