

Asos boss Nick Beighton steps down

12 Oct 2021

GMB, the union for Asos workers, has responded to the departure of company chief Nick Beighton.

Will Dalton, GMB Organiser, said:

“During his tenure Nick Beighton has seen profits soar off the backs of hard-pressed workers.

"The company has grown substantially during the pandemic, with income sky-rocketing while its warehouse workers are forced into high pick rates and refused toilet breaks.

“At the height of covid, terrified workers branded the packed warehouse a ‘cradle of disease’.

“GMB Union will be contacting Mr Beighton’s replacement demanding they recognise the GMB Union and the voice of Asos workers.”

